Appreciates Work in Breaking Up Gambling Games in Local Saloons

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
GEO. W. WHITE, Pastor
MAPLE HALL
Fourteenth and Webster Streets.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 7, 1913.
EDITOR TRIBUNE—I wish to take this opportunity of expressing to THE TRIBUNE my appreciation of the good work the paper is doing in helping to break up the nefarious gambling business in the saloons and in advocating a large reduction in the number of saloons and more strict regulation for them. I am sure that all the better element of the community is with you, and they are always a majority. I heartily approve Commissioner Turner's proposed ordinance and shall speak upon the whole question in my sermon next Sunday morning.
Yours respectfully,
GEORGE W. WHITE.

Speaks in Behalf of School Children and Extends His Thanks

1085 BELLA VISTA, AVE., OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 7, 1913.
EDITOR TRIBUNE—In behalf of the school children and families of this city, and in behalf of the good name of the city itself, permit me to personally thank you and your influential paper for the noble stand taken on the saloon question.
You should receive the united support of the best citizens of this city in demanding the protection of our young people from the debasing influence of the saloon.
Let the vile saloon element cry out against you. You are right and right will triumph and your paper be more prosperous than ever.
Sincerely yours,
J. C. GILSON.

Wants Reform in Saloons, but Does Not Favor Active Prohibition

583 MARKET STREET, OAKLAND, Aug. 7, 1913.
EDITOR TRIBUNE—I would gladly co-operate in removing the worst of the saloons, but I would by no means co-operate with the pale-faced, coffee-poisoned, fanatical prohibitionists. I would sooner respect the rights of men who want to drink beer than forcibly to deprive them. I regard it a nasty drink, but the working man has every right to use it if he cannot see how much better wine with his meat would be than beer, coffee or tea. But there are low groggeries in West and South Oakland that the neighbors consider great nuisances. They say that patrolmen do not and will not preserve order therein. They believe that very many such places bribe the policemen. So do I believe it on general grounds. Hence we have the right to demand that such places become decent and healthy "working-men's clubs" or else die, and they have no sense enough to reform, I fear.

EDITOR TRIBUNE—Permit me to express my admiration for your splendid support of public officials in the enforcement of law against that class of offenders who make financial profit by corruption of the young, the inexperienced and the weak of both sexes.
Also allow me to say that your expressed determination to secure reduction by one-half of the number of saloons in Oakland should encourage the

TURNER WOULD OPPOSE SEGREGATED DISTRICT

Abolition of the Oakland segregated district is being considered by Commissioner of Public Health F. C. Turner. Turner has had the matter under consideration for many months, and today declared that he had about come to the determination to put into effect the penal code provisions and the city charter regulation which makes this business a violation of the law.
"This matter is directly in my charge," Turner stated today. "I am responsible. When a man makes a statement it appeared to be the consensus of public opinion that the segregated district was a necessary evil, and that the law in this regard might best be allowed to rest in abeyance. This was not my opinion, and I believe that the law should be enforced. But I bowed to public opinion while studying the problem."
"We have all the law that is necessary to abolish the segregated district. All that is necessary is that I should direct Chief of Police Peterson to give these people notice that their presence in this district is illegal, and the order can be carried out under the provisions of the penal code."
"It is perhaps an open question as to whether the toleration of a re-segregated district is a necessary evil. I think that in Oakland it is not a necessary evil, perhaps."
"But there is little question that the law should be enforced. The law now stands that makes these places illegal in every sense of the word."
"I had come practically to the conclusion that this law should be put into effect in Oakland, but the recent reform wave has made me hesitate. I do not wish to seem to be standing for popular favor. This decision has come gradually to me in the natural course of events. I have had the matter up with Chief Peterson half a dozen times."
"Chief Peterson agrees with the opinions of a majority of the police authorities of the United States that the segregated district is a practical necessity. He has stated this in public. But he is ready to enforce this law if he is directed to do so."
"The redoubtable law recently passed by the legislature is on the extensive site of the old Whittier, which has become disintegrated."

DRANK WITH MEN AT CAFES

Places That Men
Frequented

With the women of Alameda county stirred to action as the result of disclosures made in the cases of Helen Sergeant, a delinquent 15-year-old girl, and Ward Masters, a youth who embezzled money from his employer to gamble in saloons at poker, a widespread investigation is being made into all phases of the saloon and gambling evils.
Complaints in the Sergeant case against persons alleged to have contributed to the delinquency of a minor girl are now in course of preparation. Owing to additional testimony given at the hearing of the case in the Juvenile Court yesterday afternoon a more careful preparation is being made by Assistant District Attorney Carey and Deputy A. J. Rogers.
Warrants will probably be ready to be served some time today, or tomorrow. Just how many of those mentioned by Miss Sergeant and Miss Frances Smith will be named in the warrants has not been given out by the district attorney, but it is believed that the number has been narrowed down to only a few against whom there appears to be sufficient evidence.
Asked as to whether he would delve into the whole gambling situation in Oakland, District Attorney Hynes said today that certain portions of the matter were a phase to be investigated by the police.
It is known that for some time past a large number of poker clubs have been operating in spite of the fact that months ago Mayor McCall declared that certain cases would be allowed to open his doors, or he himself would lead a crusade with an axe.
"These people are violating a law which makes the offense a misdemeanor," said Hynes. "It is a matter for the police to attend to and not the district attorney. I cannot be a policeman in this instance. These places may be running, but it is difficult to get evidence."
"Were there violations of the pool selling law, which is a felony, I could take the case. Outside of the city I have caused."

OLD TAX DISPUTE IS FINALLY SETTLED

Crittenden Delinquency
Settled by Payment of $4911.51

After fighting for nearly twenty years against paying taxes on valuable property on the west side of San Pablo avenue, south of Twenty-first street, Attorney James L. Crittenden today paid the County Treasurer $4911.51 and recovered title to the holding which has been vested in the state since July 3, 1895. The proceedings were put through at a specially called meeting of the Board of Supervisors, following a decision reached by the district attorney and Tax Collector Barber.
The supervisors resolved to cancel all taxes since the year 1903 to date as a portion of the compromise, on the grounds that the property had been erroneously assessed to Nina D. Crittenden, wife of the petitioner.
The property was sold for the payment of taxes for the year 1894-95.
During the time the property has been in the hands of the state, it has been placed before the authorities with numerous proposals looking toward settlement. It was not taken into court for the reason that the entire amount of tax involved might have been in jeopardy. At the session of the legislature two years ago, a bill was introduced permitting a means of settlement.
The Crittenden property adjoins on the south the Cliff property at Twenty-first and San Pablo. Since becoming involved in litigation the Crittenden holdings have increased in value. It is now understood

Miss Warrington declared that the two men told the girls that a scandal was due to start over their relations. They had been frequenting Sacramento cafes together. On these representations, she said, the two girls were induced to elope.
TESTIMONY FORMAL.
The testimony was purely formal. It was legally proved that Diggs was married and his handwriting was identified by a Sacramento banker. This morning's routine evidence was added. Prosecutor Matt Sullivan declares that the Warrington girl will be on the stand late today, if at all, which he doubts.
After the defendants entered the

Cup Is Presented to Retiring Cashier

The presentation of a loving cup, in appreciation of his long years of service, marked the retirement yesterday of E. H. Cramer, cashier of the Union Savings Bank, who yesterday served his last day in the institution. Cramer had been in the service of the bank for 38 years.
The presentation was made in the directors' room, the ceremony being extremely informal. With a few words of commendation the directors presented the retiring cashier with the loving cup.
The directors present included Vice-President Victor H. Metcalf, W. A. Bissell, Harry J. Kowles, Percy C. Black and Charles E. Rodolph.
"We are extremely sorry to lose Mr. Cramer," declared Victor Metcalf. "It is on account of ill health that he feels that he can no longer be with us. He has been a wonderfully faithful and efficient man, and a great aid to the institution which has served for so long. We all hope that soon he will be in better condition to enjoy the retirement and pension."

ADVICE ROUSES ANGER OF JUDGE

"Damnable Remark," Waste's Comment; Tappan Scored

Taking exception to remarks made by Police Judge R. B. Tappan from the bench several days ago, Superior Judge Waste this morning criticized his advice to a woman as "one of the most damnable and dangerous remarks ever made from the bench."
The case of Richard M. Rowe, held under $3000 bonds to keep the peace on complaint of his wife, was in the Superior Court on habeas corpus proceedings. At the time of trial in the Police Court Judge Tappan told Mrs. Rowe that he would advise her to get a weapon, and "go gunning for such a husband." It was shown that Rowe had threatened his wife with a shot-gun and a revolver on account of her alleged conduct. The defendant was remanded to jail in default of his $3000 bond.
Judge Waste allowed Rowe out on $1000 bonds pending decision in the matter of his commitment in the Police Court. The case will be heard Monday afternoon.
Frank Cousins, who was sentenced to serve 100 days in the city prison by Judge Tappan for violating the motorcycle speed ordinance, appeared before Judge Waste on habeas corpus proceedings. It was set forth that the judgment in the case had not been properly entered and that Judge Tappan had pocketed the commitment, so that matter also was continued until Monday for a hearing, when the points at issue will be argued.

BRYAN GETS CAUSTIC REPLY

Wilson's Effort to Bring About Peace Through Lind Rebuked

Government Takes Firm Stand and Says It Is Misunderstood

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—After a conference with President Wilson, Secretary Bryan today issued the following statement:

"The statement of the Mexican foreign office was based on misrepresentation, for which this government is not responsible. In sending Governor Lind as adviser to the embassy the President is entirely within his right and this department will not assume that his going will be regarded as unfriendly when the character of his mission is understood."

Notwithstanding the unfavorable attitude of the Huerta government toward the mission of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, the administration here intends to follow out its program of peace toward Mexico to the letter and hopes to gain the support of public opinion throughout the world by making known each step in the plan to foreign governments.

As soon as Lind advises the state department here of his arrival in Mexico City there will be made public in Washington and in the Mexican capital simultaneously the proposals which the United States offers as the pathway to peace. The proposals will be transmitted as a matter of information to the diplomatic corps here for the other governments of the world.
What the proposals contain has not been officially disclosed, but administrative officials are relying on the moral force of public opinion throughout the world to support the effort to persuade the contending factions to come to an understanding.
Secretary Bryan and Secretary Daniels talked the situation over with the President during the day, but it was said no change in plans was contemplated.

Grand Jury Meets With Sick Justice

The grand jury adjourned this morning to continue its session in Niles, accompanied by District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes and Deputy Leon Clark. The inquisitorial body is investigating the conduct of a minor official in the lower end of the county, and owing to the serious illness of Magistrate S. S. Sandholt of Centerville, who was one of the witnesses in the case, it was necessary to make the trip so that the investigation can be conducted without delay. It is said that the official under suspicion collected bail in the cases of several youths arrested at Niles and failed to account for the money.

Telephone Companies Are Ordered to Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered all common carrier telephone companies to furnish by October 3 a detailed statement of their organization, equipment and physical and financial operations. As soon as practicable the commission will hold various parts of the country hearings at which testimony will be taken as to the rates and operations.

Gas and Electric Co. May Issue Bonds

SAN FRANCISCO, August 8.—The Southern Counties Gas and Electric company, operating in Southern California, was given permission today by the State Railroad Commission to issue $75,000 worth of bonds.
The Terrance Water, Light and Power company, Los Angeles county, was allowed to issue bonds in the sum of $100,000.

Judge E. J. Brown Is Not to Be Candidate

IDENTIFY "PICKLES" LETTER.

The letter addressed "Dear Pickles," a pet name alleged to have been applied to Miss Warrington by the defendant, was positively identified by Handwriting Expert Theodore Kyka as being from Diggs' pen this morning. Kyka was the first witness on the stand and was examined by Assistant Prosecutor Theodore Roche.

The girls and was pressed from Berkeley. It warned "to be careful in her statements."

Kyka compared this letter with checks declared to have been signed by the defendant and cashed in the Fort Sutter Bank in Sacramento. These checks were identified by President Stephens of that institution yesterday. Kyka pointed out specifically when questioned that the "P" in the checks was similar to that in the letter, which had been somewhat disguised.

EXPERT ADMITS "ONE MISTAKE." Attorney Devlin, acting for the defense, put the handwriting expert through a grilling cross-examination in an attempt to break down his claims to being an expert. Kyka replied that he had been an expert since 1884 but had followed "his line of investigation" before that time.

"I have made only one mistake in 25 years," he declared when pressed by the attorney. The letter in question is one of the strong exhibits in the case, according to the prosecution, and its identification this morning marks the first real gun fired by the prosecution. Witnesses will be called, it is said, to establish the fact that "Pickles" was the nickname applied to the girl, although the address on the envelope is held legal proof of its destination.

The girls were not in court and all witnesses in the case were also excluded, being confined in the witness room under guard. A sprinkling of women entered the courtroom. Many women spectators were held in the corridors outside.

When challenged to prove, as he said, that two letters submitted as those of Diggs were written on the same kind of paper, Kyka offered to produce this evidence. The defense declined to allow this although the prosecution asked that it be done.

"LIVES FOR SCIENCE." Devlin demanded to know the nature of Kyka's work and how it paid him.

"I live for the science of it," declared the expert. "I get $25 or $50 on a case and then spend $400 for a year."

"Can anyone else do what you do?" asked Devlin.

"Yes," said Kyka; "Professor Dunkel."

"Did you say Gompers?" asked the court. Laughter followed this, the first comedy introduced into the hearing.

Kyka was asked if it were possible for a man to disguise his handwriting so that it could not be detected. He declared that this is impossible.

"Copies may be made," he declared, "but even these are usually detectable."

"Can you make your evidence any stronger?" asked Devlin.

"Yes," said Kyka, "I can enlarge these letters, juxtapose them, and make it so strong that you can even feel it."

C. H. Walbourn, a Pullman car conductor testified that he took tickets on March 8 from four people, two men and two girls, traveling from Oakland to Sacramento. He identified the tickets as belonging to the girls.

His evidence was objected to as incomplete. He stated that his memory did not carry details.

CLUBMAN DIVORCED OLIVER WINS CASE

MRS. MARIAN S. OLIVER, WHOSE HUSBAND, ROLAND L. OLIVER, WAS GRANTED A DIVORCE YESTERDAY.

Suit Filed Against Wife, Adopted Daughter of F. M. Smith, Decided for Complainant

Roland L. Oliver, wealthy clubman, has been granted a divorce from his wife, Marian S. Oliver, adopted daughter of millionaire F. M. Smith upon his testimony taken before the court commissioner in which it was set forth that the defendant deserted him and refused to be reconciled.

Oliver filed suit last May after Mrs. Oliver had returned from Europe and taken up her residence at the home of the Smiths at Arbor Villa, in East Oakland. He complained that he had made every effort to have her return to him, but that temperamental differences which arose several years after their marriage, which took place in June, 1905, had widened the breach between them until all hope of harmony had passed.

PROPERTY SETTLEMENT. The suit was not contested and it is said that all property rights have been settled out of court. Both of the principal parties are wealthy in their own right. Oliver is a son of William Letts Oliver, president of the California Cap Works. Mrs. Oliver inherited considerable property from Mrs. Smith, first wife of F. M. Smith. This inheritance included the famous Smith jewels, valued at $250,000, and including a unique collection of diamonds.

About 1910 Mrs. Oliver went on an extensive tour of Europe, finally locating in Paris, with Miss Grace Wishart, a local portrait painter. At the time there were rumors of a divorce between the couple, but Mrs. Oliver, who approached the question, denied that his wife's absence indicated a separation of their marital ties.

In Paris Mrs. Oliver opened a studio and devoted her time to the pursuit of art and "vice versa." It was also rumored that she contemplated a stage career.

RETURNS TO VILLA. When Mrs. Oliver returned last April and went to Arbor Villa, her husband remained at the home of his father, 251 Vernon street. Friends of the couple state that Oliver, with his wife's artistic temperament, was connected with the Leona Harts Chemical Company, one of the F. M. Smith concerns, which has recently been involved in his financial difficulties.

Lester Oliver, brother of the plaintiff, substantiated the allegations in the divorce suit. The suit was filed May 2 last and then by stipulation of both sides referred to the court commissioner for the taking of testimony. This was recently concluded and placed in shape for presentation to Judge Waste, who signed the decree late yesterday. Neither party to the action appeared in court.

can government's reply to the Adalpe message would be.

Secretary Bryan said that the message had been transmitted through the American embassy at Mexico City, had been translated during the night and was presented early today to President Wilson. The President had taken the position that it was incredible that the Huerta government would refuse to receive an envoy bound on a peaceful mission. Receipt of today's message brought the situation to a diplomatic crisis.

No information was forthcoming after the conference as to what the next step in the policy of the American government would be. It was considered more likely that the message would go to the American minister of foreign affairs would further outline the friendly intentions of the United States, which would be expressed by Mr. Lind and would probably suggest that information be withheld concerning Mr. Lind's mission until he had had an opportunity, through the American embassy at Mexico City to transmit the views of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

TROUBLE ADJUSTED. DOUGLAS, Mex., Aug. 8.—The split reported yesterday between Governor Jose Maytorena and members of the Sonora state congress has been smoothed over, according to a message received here today from General Obregon, one of the constitutional leaders.

Obregon also said he had no information regarding the report that Maytorena was planning the recall of Governor Yanacio Pascual to a subordinate clerical position. Instead of making him commander-in-chief of the anti-Huerta forces in Northwestern Mexico.

Warm Weather Carelessness. In summer time when lighter foods are most prevalent, it is particularly necessary that you get the full benefit of all the nourishment your food contains. It is a well-known fact, too, that people are more careless about what they eat and drink during warm weather than at any other time of year. Chilling draughts of icy cold water are constantly retarding the organs of digestion, which often cause serious illness. Sometimes it seems that there must be a secret regarding the invariable good health of a few in comparison to the many who continually feel far from fit, and there is. For over fifty years Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been a constant health safeguard in the lives of hundreds of thousands of men and women throughout the world.

A little of it as directed—in drinking water at meal time and particularly when traveling, will safeguard you against many ills. It not only helps the healthy to maintain their good health, but restores strength and energy to the sickly and infirm by stimulating the stomach to healthy action so that it properly assimilates all the food that is eaten. With this assurance that the system receives its full proportion of nourishment, every organ of the body is stimulated to greater action, and renewed vigor and vitality is the invariable result of the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, according to directions.

Sold by most druggists, grocers and dealers at $1.00 a large bottle. Medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free on application. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

GIVES DETAILS OF HER DOWNFALL

Sergeant Girl on Stand Tells of Her Many Temptations

Investigation from time to time, and I believe that there is little violation of the law regarding closing hours of saloons or gambling.

"When matters of this kind are brought before this office the public may be assured that there will be no stone left unturned to punish the guilty. As in the cases now under investigation, they will be pushed to the limit and the guilty held responsible."

GIRL GIVES TESTIMONY.

Before Superior Judge Ogden yesterday afternoon, Helen Sergeant, a delinquent 15-year-old girl, told the story of her visits to various cafes in company with Frances Smith, a cafe singer, where both were supplied with drinks. Men who met the two girls in the cafes and bought drinks were in court under subpoena and were identified.

Miss Sergeant was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Smith. She stated that she was 15 years of age on January 23 last. Her story was as follows:

"I first visited a cafe about the middle of May with Frances Smith. We went into the Saddle Rock about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and drank a Honolulu cocktail. After drinking it I felt some effects from it. We only had one drink at that time and we were alone."

HAS TWO DRINKS.

"During the first week in June I and Frances Smith visited the Avenue cafe, where Miss Smith was employed as an entertainer. While there she called me into a box and said to wait. Joe Byrd came in and bought us two drinks, as near as I can remember. It was either beer or cocktails that he drank. We stayed there from 8 o'clock until 5:20. Later I felt the effects of the drinks."

"Next time we went to the Saddle Rock about 8 o'clock in the evening. While going upstairs to the open boxes we saw two men whom I later learned to have been a Mr. Curtis and Mr. Brandle. We stayed with them. They went with us and we went into a box where they ordered two or three rounds of cocktails. I had one creme de menthe among them. The others were Mandarins. I stayed there until 11 o'clock."

WHISPERS TESTIMONY.

Asked whether or not anything had been said regarding her age at that time the girl replied that there had been but became reticent at speaking out and a portion of the testimony was whispered so that only the court could hear.

Some time after the Saddle Rock occurrence Miss Sergeant told of a meeting in front of a theater one night when she and Miss Smith met Fred Ohe and a Mr. and Mrs. Joseph, who were accompanied by their child. A luncheon was suggested and the party went to Pabst cafe, where it was testified, that she had a glass of beer. She was in company of the family party all this time. When the party broke up she went to a dance hall at Twelfth and Franklin streets and later to the Savoy cafe, where a man she met at the dance, his name she did not remember, but said that they were served with beer and then she went home with him.

Next day the two girls kept an appointment with Ohe and Joseph at the home of a Mrs. Luna, sister of the Smith girl.

TELLS OF DRINKING.

"Francis and Ohe went out and got some bottles of beer, which we drank. We left the house about 4 in the afternoon with an understanding that we would meet them at the Santa Fe restaurant. We did not have any drinks there. One left for a while and Josephs, Francis and myself went to Doogan's dance hall in Emeryville. Ohe joined us at 10 o'clock and we had bananas, or maybe four or five rounds in all. I did not drink every time and once took creme de menthe."

"I saw liquor sold there after 11 o'clock. Josephs left about 2 o'clock. Francis and I went away with two men and a woman in an automobile. We took the woman home and the rest of us went to the Hammam baths, where we stayed all night. We saw the men next morning and we two went to the Avenue cafe for breakfast."

The next visit was paid to Tod & Red's cafe, in Tenth street, near Broadway, where the girl said that she was served with two creme de menthe highballs.

PROPRIETORS IDENTIFIED. In each case where the name of a cafe was mentioned the proprietors were summoned for identification. Both of the girls denied that the proprietors had served them with the drinks.

Upon the request of the district attorney the case was continued for two weeks.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. J. B. Hume, president of the Woman's Political League, and Miss Bessie J. Wood of the Child's Welfare League, Chairman John F. Mullins of the board of supervisors and many others. Considerable interest was taken in the proceedings, but none of those mentioned would make a statement as to what attitude the clubwomen would take in the question which has aroused the entire city and brought to the attention of the authorities the notorious pitfalls that lie in wait for girls and young men.

The case of Ward Masters has been continued and will come up on August 21. In the meantime the authorities are investigating phases of the gambling evil.

The statement that Tim Dorgan would be witness in the Sergeant case was an error. Dorgan was not involved in the case in any way whatsoever.

Believes Step in Right Direction Has Been Taken for Oakland Mothers

FRUITVALE, Cal., Aug. 7, 1913. EDITOR TRIBUNE—I want to thank you in the name of the mothers of Oakland for the stand you have taken in regard to the reform of the law. You have taken a step in the right direction. I like the platform outlined in your editorial of August 5 as far as it goes. You ask if we will help you. Can you see a child standing in the path of a train and the mother of that child standing by and not lifting her hand to save it? If you can see that you will be able to see the mothers of Oakland standing by, watching that train or horse degradation and suffering, known by the name of saloon. In the past of our boys and girls who are standing in the way of justice being done we will remember, and they will never be able to hold another office in Oakland, not even that of dog catcher. We have our eyes upon officials and those that put up the best fight for the safety of our boys and girls are the ones that will be remembered at election. Now that you have given us the ballot to assist us in keeping our children clean and pure, do you think we will submit to the Jack Haneys, destroying in a few months the suffering, sacrifice and labor of a lifetime, that they may wax fat in the land? If because of a political pull they can say, "they are not worrying about this," we will show them that a mother's love is more powerful than any political pull. We like the words of District Attorney W. H. L. Hynes and Judge Donahue, but like deeds better. Let the good work go on. Again thanking you and all who may help in any way this cause of ours, I am sincerely,

"Shall Oakland Reduce Her Saloons From Four Hundred to Two Hundred?"

OAKLAND, Aug. 7, 1913. EDITOR TRIBUNE—"Shall Oakland reduce her saloons from 400 to 200?" This will be the question of discussion, along with other matters, at the opening fall luncheon of the Social Workers' Club of Alameda county on Tuesday, August 12, at Capwell's roof garden.

Miss Bessie J. Wood, first president of the Child's Welfare League, will act as chairman of the day, and brief addresses will be made by representatives of numerous organizations for social betterment, including Rev. G. W. White of the Church Federation, Mrs. W. T. Morton, secretary of the Catholic League, Miss Blanche Morse of the Civic League, Miss Beatrice A. McCall and others.

The Social Workers' Club held twenty-eight luncheons last year for a discussion of social betterment problems, the attendance running up to 100 on several occasions. Only sixty can be accommodated in the new Social Workers' lunch room at the roof garden, and first come, first served, will be the rule. All social workers and others interested are invited.

The directors of the Social Workers' Club are: Christopher Ruess, manager, W. S. Goodrich, assistant; Mrs. W. T. Morton, secretary; H. A. Zechendorf, Miss Anna Whitney, Miss Beatrice A. McCall, Miss Bessie J. Wood, Mrs. H. N. Rowell, George E. Dickie and Miss Anna Florence Brown.

voters of the state. It seems to me that it would be valuable to have a demonstration of what the operation of this law might be, whether it would actually result in good or in evil.

I have not actually decided upon what course I shall take, but it seems to me that it would be desirable to test the matter out. If this course is decided upon the people conducting these places will be given a certain length of time to discontinue this business and then a strict order will be issued for the arrest of all those violating the statute in the penal code.

There are thirty-four places in Oakland at the present time openly doing business as disorderly houses. They have been carefully regulated, and the police department has kept a register of the landladies of the places, and has recently prohibited the sale of liquor in the house of disorder.

Commissioner Turner has been under considerable strain for many weeks in this matter, and according to his friends has been close to a nervous breakdown.

"I have had this on my mind, have slept with it and thought about it hour after hour," said Turner. "It has worried me. I did not wish to do an injustice to anybody, and it was urged that the closing of the segregated district would be an evil rather than a public good."

"But it was the law. The law against prostitution has existed on the statutes since the city of Oakland was incorporated. I did not make the condition, but the responsibility has been placed directly in my hands and I feel called upon to act."

Chief of Police Walter J. Paterson refused to be interviewed on the matter this morning.

"The California law is sufficient to close these places," declared Paterson. "If I am directed to do so guarantee to close every one of the places of prostitution now existing here."

Double Divorce May Clear Peculiar Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The Hoffingers were originally wedded July 15, 1911 at Clayton, Contra Costa county. July 18 they were again united in wedlock by Justice Cricketer. On January 27 Hoffinger sued for desertion mentioning the Contra Costa marriage and was given a decree in May. Mrs. Hoffinger was served at Napa with the summons. Nevertheless it is now contended that a second divorce can have to be obtained by reason of the San Francisco marriage and Hoffinger has brought suit with that purpose in view.

Many close friends and associates of the deceased, including leaders of the bench and bar in California, were present.

The remains were incinerated at the Oakland crematory at a private ceremony following that at the home. All yesterday and this morning floral tributes and telegraphic messages of condolence flooded in to the home of the Hall family. Prominent among business and professional men were those in the service of the state and nation, sent to the bereaved family as tokens to the memory of the late jurist.

Judges, attorneys and prominent citizens acted as pallbearers. The honorary pallbearers were: Guy C. Earl, A. A. Moore, Judge John Ellsworth, Judge Frank E. Ogden, Judge Thomas J. Lennon and Judge Frank H. Kerrigan.

The active pallbearers included Stanley Moore, A. A. Moore Jr., Shirley Walker and Harold Walker, nephews of the late jurist; C. Fred Fisk and Andrew B. Bennison.

Memorial resolutions, honoring the memory of the dead jurist, were passed at noon today at a meeting of the Bar Association held in the courtroom of Superior Court No. 4, with the Superior judges sitting on bench. Among those present were many leaders of the legal profession of the bay region. Ex-Judge John Ellsworth, Guy C. Earl and Cary Howard were the committee who drew up and presented the resolutions.

President M. C. Chapman of the association officially informed the Superior judges sitting on bench of the death of the jurist Judge Ogden presided. With him on the bench were Superior Judges Ellsworth, Brown, William H. Donahue, H. D. Burroughs, N. D. Arnot and W. H. Waste.

ADJOURNS OUT OF RESPECT.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Superior Court adjourned for the day in respect to the memory of Judge Hall.

The following resolutions were read by John Ellsworth and adopted unanimously by the Bar Association:

"Resolved, By the Bar Association of Alameda county that, by the death of Samuel P. Hall, associate justice of the District Court of Appeals of the First district, this Bar Association has lost one of its best and most respected members. Judge Hall, through poverty and hardship, reached the bar in 1878, and continuously since then has lived in the city of Oakland. He was a deputy district attorney of Alameda county from 1878 to 1882, when he was elected district attorney of the county, which office he held until January, 1889. He then entered upon the active practice of law until 1896, when he was elected judge of the Superior Court of Alameda county. He was again elected judge and continued on the Superior bench until, in 1905, he was appointed to the District Court of Appeals, and in 1906 he was elected to the same position and was serving a twelve year term when he was suddenly taken away. In all these official positions Judge Hall showed extraordinary fitness and ability. As district attorney he was most effective. His fairness and his integrity, his sincerity and force of character were such that conviction became certain whenever eminent were opposing counsel, whenever he, as district attorney, indicated to the jury his belief in the guilt of the defendant.

ABLE AND UPRIGHT.

"As a practitioner, Judge Hall was faithful and painstaking; an able and

HUNDRED MILLION DEPOSIT OFFERED

Treasury Department to Increase Amount It Will Place in Banks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—At a conference today between treasury officials and bankers of the central west regarding the distribution of government deposits to assist in moving the crops, Assistant Secretary John Skelton Williams declared the treasury was prepared to deposit $100,000,000 if necessary. The original plan called for $50,000,000. The exact amount of the government deposits will be determined after the views of the bankers have been analyzed.

Bankers of Chicago and Indianapolis, it was said, declared they were not prepared to say whether the deposits would be needed by them, but that they would be glad to receive a portion of the funds. Generally the government's proposition to put out the money was welcomed. Denver, Colo., required $20,000,000.

Williams informed the bankers that on deposits to be secured by state and other bonds, exclusive of government bonds, and by commercial paper, the treasury department probably would insist on an additional security of 10 per cent in United States bonds.

SENATOR JOHNSTON OF ALABAMA DEAD

Served in Confederate Army and Was Governor of State

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Joseph F. Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., died at his apartments this morning shortly before 9 o'clock.

Senator Johnston had been in poor health and had not attended sessions of the Senate for a week. He had been confined to his apartment most of the time, but his trouble was not diagnosed as pneumonia until a few days ago.

Senator Johnston was 70 years old, had served through the war in the Confederate army, was governor of Alabama for two terms and had been a member of the Senate since 1907. He was unanimously elected to succeed the late Senator Pettus. He was re-elected in 1909.

The death of Senator Johnston weakens the Democratic majority on the administration tariff bill in the Senate though party leaders insist that there still will be no serious difficulty in passing the measure.

In the Democratic Senate caucus it was announced that 49 Senators had declared they would support the bill on its final passage. At that time Senators Randall and Thornton of Louisiana were the only ones to declare they would vote against the bill because of the sugar schedule. On the basis of the alignment Democratic leaders figured that the vote on the tariff bill, without defections from each side would be 49 to 47 for its passage. The death of Senator Johnston leaves the calculation 48 to 47.

Should one vote be lost to the Democrats on the basis of present forecasts and no member of the minority come to their aid, the vote would stand 48 to 47 against the bill. There still is the possibility that at least seventeenth amendment to the constitution, providing quickly for the filling of the vacancy caused by Senator Johnston's death.

The constitutional amendment provides for the filling of vacancies in the Senate in this way: "When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the Senate the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies, provided that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct."

SEEK TRACES OF RAILROAD STOCK SALES

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Philip Boyer, of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co., was called on to resume the witness stand before the Frawley legislative committee this afternoon for further questioning about transactions in "Big Four" railroad stock in behalf of an individual whom the committee seeks to identify as William Sulzer of New York.

Should the committee be balked in its efforts to trace certain stock transactions, it was said it would call on the exchange authorities to throw light on the mysterious account of "No. 500," which has figured in testimony and which the committee contends was part of the cover-up.

LAUNDERED MONEY JUST AS GOOD AS UNWASHED BILLS

Washington, Aug. 8.—Laundried money is just as good as new bills only a short time out of the printer's hands, according to the bureau of chemistry, which reported today to United States Treasurer Burke the results of a recent chemical analysis of the washed notes. The analysis disclosed only a slight difference in the appearance of the washed and unwashed bills.

The report says that the washed bills are lengthened slightly in the laundering process, but that neither the brilliancy of the ink nor the engraved surface is affected. It is found that the old bills have lost some of their crispness, but they retain strength and will stand a great deal of circulation. The experiment developed that genuine bills withstood the washing process, but that counterfeit currency was instantly detected.

ROTARIAN FACTION BUYS LUNCHEON

Other Half of Club Is Dined Because of Its Better

Auto Garage

Yesterday's luncheon of the Rotary Club was a social affair for one portion of the organization and a very happy, laughable function for the other. The reason for the difference consisting of the fact that the first half had to pay for the last half's meal. Deadlly rivalry between two factions of the club in point of artifice and the reason for the luncheon and a social affair.

tributed more men to the regular meetings than the "Hesters," who were winning the wager made some time ago. The decorated men, and other pointed matter, and fancy names had for a coming delicious meal, as the well known animal. Much of the time the table was indulged in by the winners, and the losers at last to exist the spoils of defeat.

In an added endeavor to soothe the aching hearts of the "Hesters," a program of music was the contribution of Past President Robert R. Taylor and Lawrence Moore, while L. Lane, Samuel helped along with a monologue that would have done credit to a professional. The winners praised themselves by means of two cutting speeches by Lawrence Moore and Joseph Burroughs, members of the winning faction, and the losers were compelled to reply upon C. H. Ligning for an oratorical defense. In addition President T. B. Bridges spoke as did E. W. Wintenberg, R. Samuel, Victor Bates and Robert Robertson.

Next Wednesday morning Rodgers D. Atkinson and Robertson will leave for the national convention of Rotary Clubs at Buffalo to be held from August 12 to 14. A stirring "send-off" is planned for Wednesday by the organization.

JULIETTE SPURNED; VOWS SHE'LL DIE

Posse Searches Beaches for Goddess of Artichoke

Posse

HALFMOON BAY, Aug. 8.—From her place in the furrows between the soft green rows of artichokes Juliette Mendicino looked out over her father's acres and into the truck garden of Romeo. Born 29 years old, Juliette is 18, just turned 19.

She learned to love Romeo, quite as another Romeo. But there was no heated Florence found of Montague and Capulet between them over the rows of artichokes. With their occasional bright blue this flower—and Romeo's lack of interest in the pretty and 11 years his junior.

And Romeo disdained the light that shone through the rows of spiked artichokes; his was no ambition to be a glove upon the hand that plucked the seeds. As a consequence, the pretty Juliette may be sold in the street that beats on Point San Pedro, and Romeo is spending tonight as a member of a posse that is searching for the girl, who said that her love unrequited, she would die. As he searched he declared that if by any chance Juliette is found alive he will wed her forthwith.

Juliette is a daughter of Cardillo Jose Mendicino, a wealthy artichoke grower, with a place five miles north of Halfmoon Bay, and Romeo is the nearest neighbor.

Today Juliette and Romeo talked narrowly, but Romeo said until he had as good a home as her father's. Crying with emotion, Juliette fled. Whether she threw herself from the bay or to a train for San Francisco to hide until Romeo could live up to his name is now known.

BRYAN ANNOUNCES DIPLOMATIC 'EXES'

Test for Secretaryships to Embodiment Civil Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Secretary Bryan's announcement that an examination for diplomatic secretaryships will be held here September 22 is taken to indicate his purpose to continue civil service principles in the state department. Already about 40 candidates have signified their intention of taking the examinations, which will be conducted by the President. Hitherto the board has consisted of the assistant secretary of state, the solicitor of the diplomatic bureau, the chief of the bureau of appointments of the state department and the chief examiner of the civil service commission.

The names of the successful candidates will be placed on an eligible list from which appointments for embassy and legation secretaryships will be made. Not all of the vacancies will be filled directly from this list, as many will be filled by transfer.

A civil service examination of candidates for consular appointments will be held in the near future, but the date has not been determined.

TELLS KANSANS TO HOLD LIVE STOCK

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 8.—Governor Hoge of Kansas held a conference yesterday with representatives of the State Bankers' Association, the State Agricultural College, the railroad and agricultural publications at which plans, by which they hope to influence Kansas farmers not to rush their livestock to market, were discussed.

W. J. Bailey, president of the State Bankers' Association, said the association would send a telegram to all bankers in the state today urging them to get out among the farmers and appeal to them to keep their cattle on the farms.

"I have heard of many stockmen who are placing buying orders for cattle on the low market and they will bring these cattle back into Kansas for winter stocking and next spring sell the same cattle to Kansas farmers at high prices," Governor Hodge said.

NEVADA EDUCATOR KILLED BY ENGINE

RENO, Aug. 8.—Ransom H. McDowell, a graduate of the University of Michigan in the class of 1892 and for 18 years head of the college of agriculture of the University of Nevada, was hit by the engine of a westbound Southern Pacific train last night and died at an early hour today.

According to the engineer, apparently McDowell leaped toward the pilot, and friends are inclined to the belief that he committed suicide, as he has been depressed recently owing to advancing age, ill health and lack of means.

McDowell was relieved of his position as head of the animal industry department of the University of California.

SAYS CHURCHMAN IS BLACKMAILER

Women Witnesses to Testify Against F. E. Young of Long Beach

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—When the investigation of the attempt of F. E. Young, a well-known churchman of Long Beach, to extort money from Mrs. Anne Bahrenburg was resumed today, the names of two other women said to have been subjected to blackmailing operations were disclosed.

Besides Mrs. Bahrenburg, grand jury subpoenas were issued for Mrs. N. B. Griggs and Mrs. Henry W. Wainovsky. It is alleged that Young endeavored to extort money from them by using the name of a fictitious detective agency in threatening them with exposure if they failed to comply with his demands.

Young, according to the police, said today he had been induced to write the threatening letters by a man who was informed as to a court proceeding in Michigan 33 years ago, in which Young was charged with forgery. He could not give the man's name, stating that he was known to him only as "Sandy."

I. W. W.'S BLAMED FOR DEATH OF MANWELL

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 8.—"We, the jury, find that Edward T. Manwell came to his death August 3d at the Durst hop yards near Wheatland from a gunshot wound inflicted by a gun in the hands of a rioter, indicted for murder, named by I. W. W. leaders and agitators."

"We, therefore, recommend that the Yuba county officers do all in their power to capture the Electric Ford, and all other guilty parties."

The above was the verdict yesterday of the coroner's jury which heard the evidence of those who were present at the riot Sunday, when District Attorney Manwell, Deputy Sheriff Reardon and two other men met death in a pitched battle between striking hop pickers and a Sheriff's posse.

The jury also returned a verdict that the unknown colored hop picker who was killed met death from a gunshot wound inflicted by Henry Dakin, a deputy sheriff, in the discharge of his duty.

HEAR CASE, BUT CAN NOT TRY IT HERE

After listening to witnesses and hearing the charge of petty larceny against Umberto Cavallo for a lengthy period, it was discovered that the alleged larceny had been committed in Berkeley and that the jurisdiction would rest in the justice court of that city. On Staten Island, in New York bay, the breeding of mosquitoes has been diminished about 50 per cent, and the water at largely of the past has been practically exterminated, according to Dr. Doty by swamp drainage, aided by an unusually dry spring. Similar work on the Long Island New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut coasts has brought about a reduction of about forty per cent in the breeding.

Obstinate Acne Quickly Yields

Fine Remedy that Clears
Skin of Pimples on Cheeks, Temples, Sides of Nose and Chin.

Acne attacks the glandular structure of the skin, more particularly those glands that secrete fat. And it is here that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is most active in its influence.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S., the purpose of which it is to stimulate the cells in the tissues that they select from the blood the material that makes new skin and thus eliminates all irritants, acids and parasites that inflame the glands. There is a natural tendency of the fine network of blood vessels in the skin to throw off impurities, but where a persistent inflammatory process has invaded the skin, the natural repair work of the blood is interfered with. It requires the stimulating activity of S. S. S. to overcome such morbid conditions. If you have been troubled with acne, do not despair of a cure.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist on having it. The great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., prepares this famous blood purifier, and you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if you blood condition is specialist freely, address the Medical Dept. of the Company, 121 South Main, Atlanta, Ga.

OAKLAND MEDICO COMPLETES TOUR

Crater Lakes and Return Is Record Run of Peerless
Owner

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

One of the most interesting automobile tours of the present season has just been completed by Dr. R. W. Meek of Oakland and his family who have returned from a 1200-mile trip to the Oregon country where they visited the Crater Lake in their Peerless car.

"On the trip up," says the doctor, "we passed through Sacramento and found the going over the Pacific Highway to Red Bluff to be very good with an occasional hard pull over the unfinished portions of road. Red Bluff to Redding and then to Bend through the Pitt River canyon, we needed horse power and plenty of it, the roads being just fair. From Bend we went to Klamath Falls by way of Castle Craig. By far the prettiest part of our trip was next encountered as the pine forest nine miles out of Klamath Springs was blooming like a conservatory with sugar pines, Shasta lilies and white lilacs. The perfume from these flowers being at times almost sufficing. At Klamath Falls we stopped at the White Pelican hotel, which, by the way, is a surprise to everyone who visits the north as in its appointments and service it equals the best on the Pacific coast. Here we met W. P. Johnson, of Berkeley, trying out his new Peerless with an initial run of 2000 miles. Klamath Lake was filled with white pelicans. These huge birds would from time to time raise off the lake in such numbers that they looked at a distance like a white cloud.

"We could not get to Crater Lake with our machine owing to snow drifts but we reached the lake on foot by only having to walk a half mile. Our route was through Camp Grant by way of Eagle Point to Medford, Oregon. The going here being very good, we traversed a fairly level country to Grant's Pass and into Crescent City. Leaving Crescent City on the beach, this road can only be traversed at low tide as it is completely under water at high tide. It is also necessary even at low tide to run with two of the wheels almost in the water as twenty feet back the sand is so soft that they get hopelessly stuck and have to wait until the tide comes in and wash them to be pulled out. We left just behind the stage that runs to Eureka and profited by the driver's expert knowledge of the road. Leaving the beach the road strikes into high mountains where, owing to cloud bursts and wash-outs, we knew the road was doing some strange things. Although this road is becoming better every day as the season advances. From Eureka to Belle Springs by way of Ridgeville there was nothing but heavy tortuous winding mountain roads.

"One incident our engine laboring under great stress on a twenty-five percent grade and the next instant we were able to use both sets of brakes and the compression of the engine to safely negotiate a sharp descent. From Belle Springs to Willits there is a succession of rocks, holes, gullies, grades and hog-backs, but fifty miles seemed like five hundred, but on soon forgets his troubles when the Pacific Highway is again encountered and all the way to Guerneville we passed over roads equal to the finest pavement. Our course led through Santa Rosa and home.

"We found that the only special equipment needed with our Peerless was plenty of fresh tubes as all other supplies could be readily obtained en route, but to make this tour in comfort one needs a strong, powerful car. The little fellows had best select a different route until the roads in the north are in better shape than at present."

NEW MERCER.

A five-passenger Mercer car has just been delivered to Mr. Lindbergh, of San Francisco. The car is unusual in finish, having a painted black running gear and a purple body. The Simplex Mercer Company have been making many deliveries of new cars, cleaning up for the 1932 season.

DART TRUCKS HERE.

Samuel Crim, head of the Reliance Automobile Company, has announced that two carloads of Dart delivery trucks have been received and that deliveries have been made immediately. The 1932 models have been proving very popular and are still in demand.

HEATH IS HERE.

He will visit the different branches of the state and visit his different branches of the 1932 Chalmers "26," which he has brought with him. Heath has been identified with the International Harvester Company for twenty-five years.

The loans were obtained, he said, to cover pretended purchases of silk on a profit-sharing basis with the banks. Depardus paying the banks supposed next over-increasing loans received by him for alleged additional purchases.

Depardus told the judge that through his payments to them the banks had received back $3,000,000 of the sums advanced him, leaving only $5,000,000 owing them. He added that his aeroplane interests and other profitable enterprises would go far toward wiping out this amount.

U. C. CAN SUPPLY EXPERT SERVANTS

Cooks Who Know Chemistry,
Waiters Who Speak French
Are Two Offerings

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, AUG. 8.—Cooks who have studied dietetics and home chemistry, waiters who understand menu, French and strength of materials, grass-cutters, lawn-sprinklers, and weed-pullers who are students of floriculture and landscape gardening, dish-washers who a few years hence will be superintendents of highways or irrigation engineers—these are some of the combinations supplied by the student employment bureau maintained in the president's office at the University of California.

Already several scores of freshmen have written the bureau, and the university has issued an invitation to all the people around the need may be supplied, and so that these ambitious young men and women students may be helped to get a college education.

More than a third of all the students in the university earn their own way through college, whole or in large part. Among the hundreds of positions found for students by the president's office last year were driving delivery wagons, care of gardens, horses, or automobiles, serving as cooks, waiters, and dish-washers, to boarding houses and to outside families, working as clerks, bookkeepers, or stenographers, playing the piano for dances, singing in church choirs, caring for the sick or crippled, private tutoring in other forms of teaching, and a vast variety of other work. Those who employ a student for household work usually expect two or three hours of service every day in return for board and lodging. In many cases the payment is in money instead of in board and lodging.

Among those who in past years earned their living, a large number of students in such fashion are many men who today are of wide repute as lawyers, doctors, business men, scientists, men of letters, engineers, or in public life.

The university authorities find that the usual experience of employers is that these young men and women, who are so well equipped to help in this fashion, and that they receive the value of intelligent and active service as well as gain the satisfaction of helping young people to get an education.

WILL'S EXISTENCE IS NOW DOUBTED

Martins' Case Again Is Taken Up by Judge
Ogden

That the late Antonio M. Martins did not leave a will was the decision of Superior Judge Ogden today after having heard the case at different intervals since last February when the representatives of Martins' parents who live in the Azores Islands, claimed that there was a will and accused Mrs. Martins of having failed to produce it in court.

In the opinion of the court, there was no will left.

Martins had an estate valued at $20,000. He committed suicide and stated that a key he left would fit a tin box in which the will would be found. In a letter to her husband's parents, Mrs. Martins stated that she had seen a document on her husband's desk and that it had bequeathed $10,000 to the parents. Contestants contended that the remainder of the estate should have gone to the decedent's brother. By the decision of Judge Ogden the widow will be entitled to share in one-half of the property.

LOSES HAT WHEN HE GETS WEDDING LICENSE

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 8.—George Higgins, employed in the commercial department of the Portland Railway, Light and Power company, in Portland, became so frustrated when he secured a permit to marry Annie Pfeiffer of Portland that he left the courthouse without his hat, and a return trip was made to secure his headgear. Higgins found his automobile decorated with cow bells and other noxious making appliances when he came from the office of Justice of the Peace G. L. Davis. The car, in the hands of Local Manager C. C. Turley, was driven about the streets for the time of the cow bells until the car left on its 5 o'clock trip for the Oregon side, bearing the newly-wedded couple.

DYNAMITE, GUN, THEN WARRANT

Alameda Girl Figures in Exoiting Events in Marinosa
County

ALAMEDA, Aug. 8.—Darran, Marinosa county is the scene of the latest feud to attract attention in California, and Miss Lillian Brown of Alameda and Everett P. Carey, a high school teacher are the two central figures. Accessories to the trouble are a few sticks of dynamite, placed under an irrigation dam an irate father, and a shotgun.
The dynamite is alleged to have been placed under the dam by Carey. It worked. The dam is no more. The shotgun is alleged to have been leveled at Carey by the irate father aforementioned. It worked too, and Carey, frightened, confessed to the dynamiting, as he says, under compulsion. At any rate, a warrant has been sworn against Carey and he is angry, very angry.
The disouting land claimants had property at Darran. Miss Brown's land was supplied with water from a dam which Carey said diverted water from a government stream. He turned it back. Miss Brown's father leveled a shotgun at his breast, secured a confession and swore to a charge. Professor Carey will appear before Justice of the Peace Trabucco of Marinosa county next week. He is out on $500 bail.
The Brown lives at 1525 Bay street, Alameda, and Carey lives at Keith avenue and Hart street, Berkeley. Carey declares that he has acted within his rights and that the Browns are trying to intimidate him.
"I cannot be frightened into dropping this matter," he declared.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 8.—Andrew Rouch died of a broken heart sustained when he swooned and fell from the top tier of the grandstand at the Barnesville ball park after being told that his daughter, Thelma Rouch, 13, and a companion, Stella Van Fossen, 12, had drowned in the reservoir of the Wall Mining Company. Rouch never regained consciousness after the fall.
The girls had attached ropes from themselves to a tree, and when diving the rope broke and they were drowned in the reservoir, which ranks in depth from 40 to 100 feet.

GROOM ILL, WEDS IN S. F. HOSPITAL

Bride-to-be Declared "I'll Wed Tonight or never."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Upsetting all arrangements for their marriage, Miss Elmer Robinson, daughter of Mr. James Robinson of Redwood, and James Willis Goodwin, president of the Oro Electric corporation, were married at 2 o'clock this morning at St. Francis hospital.
The wedding was to have been celebrated by Rev. Father John W. Sullivan at the home of the bride's mother at Redwood at 6 o'clock last night. But during the day Mr. Goodwin was taken seriously ill and was removed to the St. Francis hospital.
The bride and her party, when they heard of the illness of the bridegroom, jumped into a powerful touring car and sped 30 miles to the hospital, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. David M. Crabtree, an Episcopal clergyman. Mr. Goodwin was in bed when he married Miss Robinson.

There could be no wedding in San Mateo county last night, though the marriage license had been taken early in the morning by Goodwin. That document stated that the age of the groom was 49 and that of the bride 31. "But I'm marry tonight or never," declared Miss Robinson.
Her family tried to show her that it could not be so. "I'll go to San Francisco and be married," said the bride.
The bride of this long and swift prenuptial journey is the daughter of Mrs. "Jimmy" Robinson, who has a large estate near Redwood City. The family is prominent in peninsula society.
Goodwin is rated a millionaire. He is the head of the Oro Electric corporation, with offices in the Sharrow building, city. He had been married before and he had a son nearly as old as Miss Robinson. He was taken ill at his office yesterday and was removed to the St. Francis hospital.
Dr. Ebricht and Dr. Terry said that he was suffering from nervous breakdown.

Summer Foods As Cause of Dyspepsia

Many Also Get Diarrhoea—
What to Do in Either Case

Summer ought to be the months of most perfect health, but owing to contaminated water and milk, unripe fruit, germs and insects the average of health is not good at this time of the year. There is much skin trouble from acid fruits, and much dyspepsia and diarrhoea from cold foods and iced beverages.

The skin trouble is easily stopped by discontinuing fruit for a few days, and by the use of a mild laxative to clean the bowels and tone the blood. The dyspepsia is likewise corrected by the use of a laxative which is combined with the elements of a digestive tonic. Hence the best remedy to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, as its name indicates, is a pleasant laxative combined with the virtues of pepsin, which we all know is the best cure for indigestion.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a pleasant laxative, as they are unnecessarily harsh. Thousands of good American families prefer Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, among them those of Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Beloit, Wis., who finds she can give it to her baby without causing cramps or pain. And Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Beloit, Wis., who finds she can give it to her family size. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

KIMONO PARADE RESULT OF FIRE

Hotel Guests Awakened by Smoke, Hasten From Building

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—There was a kimono and pajama parade at 7:30 this morning at Sutter and Polk streets, which caused passengers on passing cars to gasp and which was the direct result of a fire of unknown origin which started in the place of business of the Jackson Manufacturing Company, 1145 Sutter street. The Lorin Hotel, 1156 Sutter street, extends above the store and the smoke and clanging of fire bells served to arouse the sleeping guests. The hour was 7:30 and most of the company were still in their beds. Hastily donning wraps and kimonos in some instances, and hurrying forth in night apparel in others, men and women made a quick dash for the street. Miss May Hayton took time to don a tailor suit and in consequence was rescued by firemen who took her down a ladder. Her kimono was so choked with smoke that she could not see and was rescued by two men taking her down and leaving valuables behind. Miss Laura Woods jumped into the arms of several citizens who saw her attempting to leap from a window in the rear. She was rescued. The hotel is conducted by Mrs. Fannie Cousins who busied herself arousing the lodgers.

The Jackson Manufacturing Company is owned by W. Jackson and is devoted to the construction of modern antiques. The loss there was about $200. The flower shop at 1151 Sutter street, adjoining, was damaged only by smoke but Albert O. Stein declares that his stock of palms plants and flowers was totally ruined, the loss being $2000. Policemen would turn in the alarm from Box 135 and this was followed by another alarm.

WESTERN FUEL PROBE STARTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Theodore Roche, special assistant United States attorney, began a new investigation into the activities of the Western Fuel company in the first session of the Federal Grand Jury held yesterday afternoon. David Norcroft, secretary of the corporation, was on the stand for an entire hour. Most of the officials of the Western Fuel company have been indicted, and Roche and Attorney Matt Sullivan are to prosecute them for an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government. Yesterday some additional evidence was obtained.

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, August 8.—Henderson Hasty, a resident of Easton, was given a coat of tar several days ago after he was found lying beside the road in an intoxicated condition. He was carried to a livery barn, stripped of his clothes, his face painted and after the tar was applied he was thrown into the hay to sober up.

CHAUFFEURS BALK AT NUMBER OF LICENSE

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES ARREST

Broker Declared to Have Violated Auto Laws on Ride

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Charles T. Russell, a real estate broker of Bakerfield, is locked up at the city prison charged with violation of Section 347B of the Penal Code as the result of an accident early this morning which demolished his automobile and caused the injury of himself and a companion, W. Benjamin B. Diggins. The men, both of whom are residents of Kern county, have been stopping at the Riverside apartments. They took an automobile ride last night and were returning on Geary street when a woman driver became confused and smashed the machine against the telephone pole. The car was going at a high rate and both occupants were pitched to the street. Diggins' scalp was laid open and Russell's arm was bruised and strained and his face cut by flying from the wind shield. Patrolman Hogan was

YELLS GREETING BY MEGAPHONE

First Time in 10 Years Captain Speaks to His Sister.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—For the first time in ten years Captain Dantelsen, of the Norwegian steamship Cuno, got close enough to the Norwegian steamship Catherine Cuno to shout greetings through a megaphone to his sister, the wife of Captain Sorenson. Both ships are engaged in the fruit trade between this port and Jamaica, but it was the first time they were ever in the same port at the same time. Captain Dantelsen learned that the Cuno was here when a pilot boarded his ship at the Delaware capes. Under full speed the little ship was sent up the Delaware. When it arrived at Marcus Hook quarantine Captain Dantelsen was disappointed to see the Cuno steaming on her way to sea. He signaled to the Cuno and Captain Sorenson called Mrs. Sorenson to the deck. She called to her brother through a megaphone and as the ships passed flags were dipped and whistles blown in salute.

BRIDE'S FLOW OF TEARS DELAYS WEDDING HOURS

LA CROSSE, Wis., August 8.—Weeping bitterly as the officiating clergyman was about to pronounce the words which would make her the wife of Najeeb George Ganton, O. prett Ross Sady, belle of the Syrian colony, delayed for three hours the wedding at St. Elias church. Just at the time when it appeared that she was about to change her mind the bride dried her eyes and the ceremony was concluded. The wedding was the one which was postponed because of the arrest of the bride's father by an unromantic game warden for shooting turtle doves to serve at the marriage feast.

CHILD REVIVES IN COFFIN; MOTHER FAINTS

BOLIVAR, Pa., Aug. 8.—Just as the lid was about to be placed on the coffin in which lay the apparently lifeless body of Mary, her 3-year-old baby, preparatory to lowering it into the grave, Mrs. Henry Yesterling gave full vent to her grief. Her pitiful wails acted like an electric current on the "dead" child. Opening her eyes the little one gave a start and began to cough and choke in an effort to cry. The mother saw her child still lived she fell on the coffin in a faint. Several other mourners, although startled, hurriedly removed the little one from the coffin and summoned a doctor who after making an examination of the child, said it had been in a remarkable case of suspended animation.

Succession to Justice Hall.

death of Justice Samuel P. Hall leaves a vacancy on the of the Appellate Court of the First District. It devolves, we, on Governor Johnson to fill the vacancy and candidates succession are doubtless in the field. The late associate of the Appellate Court was originally appointed by Gov. Pardee in 1905 when the court was originally organized. His appointment was confirmed by the people at the general election the following year. In the classification by lot of the members of the court, Justice Hall drew the long term of twelve or more years of which he lived to serve, five years, only, remaining to be filled by his successor.

Justice Hall hailed from Alameda county which, previous to his appointment to the Appellate Court he had well served as District Attorney and Superior Judge. Alameda county is the second largest and wealthiest county in the First Appellate Court district. It stands to reason, therefore, that Governor Johnson will appoint Justice Hall's successor from the bench or bar of Alameda county.

The people of Alameda county are manifestly anxious for the Governor to gratify their wishes and it will manifestly be part of wisdom for him to comply with their request. Being the second largest and wealthiest county in the First Appellate Court district, the fact should not be overlooked that it has the distinction of having cast a majority for the Progressive party at the last gubernatorial election second in magnitude that given by Los Angeles county.

breaking down of the steering gear of the greatest of the steamships—the Hamburg-American liner Imperator—in the Atlantic last Saturday while on her way to New York, one of the perils of the sea associated with the modern steamships employed in the transoceanic passenger service. The steamship was running at a speed of twenty-two miles an hour in the clear and open sea, when a pipe supplying the steering gear with glycerine and acting as a cushion to reduce the shock of the changes in the helm necessary to keep the vessel on her course, suddenly burst. Control over the rudder was consequently lost at once and the great steamship was rendered completely helpless. The tremendous speed under which she was running forced her to repeat a circle of a half mile in several times before her headway was stopped and she would be made to the damaged pipe. This is said to be the time for the Imperator to pass through the same experience which proves positively that the glycerine pipe is the weakest link in her construction; and, on the theory that the strength of a chain is determined by its weakest link, it manifestly becomes necessary to substitute a stronger pipe for the glycerine pipe of the steering gear of the vessel to assure safety. Doubtless will be done, for there is no knowing what calamity might be recorded had the accident reported occurred in the passage through the narrow waters of the English Channel hemmed in by rocky shores and crowded with moving shipping.

Restored in the Balkans.

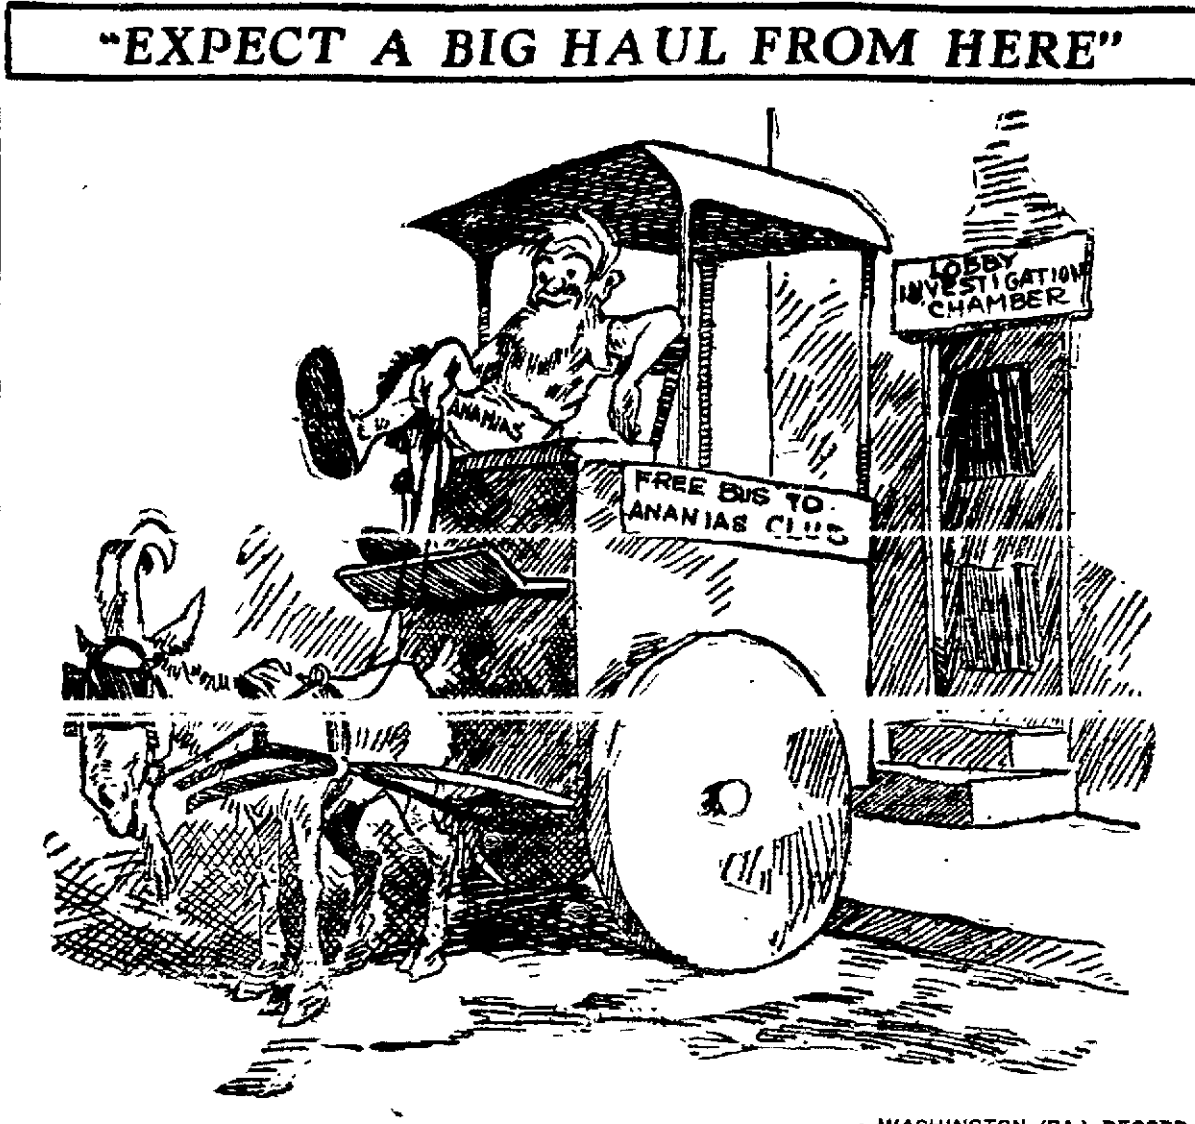

has finally been concluded in the Balkans, Bulgaria compelled to accept the terms imposed upon her by her allies—Montenegro, Serbia and Greece—and by the latter has co-operated with Bulgaria's former curbing her abnormal greed for territorial expansion, declared war and moved her troops over the Bulgarian border on July 10 to enforce her own demand for a re-adjustment of the balance of power in the Balkan peninsula. The and the Servians had declared war against Bulgaria 10 years previously to protect themselves from being robbed of the territory they had won by conquest and to which they were entitled under the treaty of alliance formed before the beginning of hostilities with Turkey.

The preliminary treaty of peace. Bulgaria surrenders to a strip of territory from Silistria to Varna on the Black Sea which gives the latter control over the mouth of the Danube. This minimizes the influence and power of Bulgaria in the sea waters, besides reducing her to a negative quantity on the globe.

The most serious curb placed on Bulgaria's aggressive ambition is the treaty of her claims to the control of the Aegean Sea. Her attempt to seize Salonika, which she had won single-handed from the Turks, caused the rupture of peace. In the terms of settlement agreed upon by the peace conference of the Balkan States, Greece has not only been awarded Salonika, but also the port of Kavala, the key to the northern of the Aegean Sea, which carries with it the sovereignty of the Salonika peninsula.

Bulgaria has not, however, lost all of the territory wrested by her from the Turks in the war which they jointly waged. She has a liberal share in the division of the spoils under the terms on which peace has been attained. She gets a much larger share of Northern Macedonia than her former allies were to concede to her and a frontage of sixty miles on the Black Sea. The latter will enable her to construct the railroad from Philippopolis to the sea and an opportunity to develop her ocean commerce. But the obligation of restoring her to the province of Thrace to the line drawn from the Black Sea at Midia, which was established when the treaty of peace between the allies and Turkey was signed, on her alone. Taking advantage of Bulgaria's troubles with her neighbors and former allies, Turkey reinvaded Thrace and established her sovereignty over the ancient capital and old Adrianople. The great powers of Europe have given Turkey that she must withdraw to the Enos-Midia line; accepted as a foregone conclusion that they will not use force to compel the withdrawal. Bulgaria has, therefore, more coming up between her and Turkey, before she can re-establish her sovereignty over the ancient capital and old Adrianople.

A preliminary treaty of peace just concluded by the Balkan powers, however, passes the revision of the great powers, and is hoping to induce them to award the port of Kavala to Bulgaria which there will, of course, be a vigorous protest.

The Burden of Too Many Saloons

Every group of 450 inhabitants in Oakland, counting men, women and children of all ages, is burdened with the support of a saloon. Think of it! The money to maintain a saloon is drained from 450 people—that is, there is a saloon to every 450 people in this city. Is not the tax too heavy for the benefits conferred in return? Would the community not be better off with fewer saloons and more people? The proportion is unhealthy. It is burdensome; and it promotes insidious violations of the law whose fruits are advertised in the proceedings of the police, divorce and juvenile courts. The money to keep the multitude of saloons going must be contributed by the community and the contribution is a tax that has a close relation to the domestic economy of every family. One-half the saloons at present existing would furnish more opportunities for drinking than are necessary, and the drain on the community for overhead expense would be much less. As a suggestion looking to the moral and financial betterment of the community, we offer this proposition for the thoughtful consideration of the good people of Oakland. We do not expect to convince the other kind, and therefore do not appeal to them.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Major Fred Whitney and Professor Frank Soule participated in the Bohemian Club dinner last Wednesday night. William Keith and wife have returned from their European tour. Mrs. G. D. McElroy and J. Newton McElroy are enjoying themselves at Castle Crags. Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Adkins have returned from San Jose. Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald have returned from Canada. Senator George Perkins and Colonel John P. Irish have arrived in Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Einar Painter are in Boulder Creek, where they will rest for a few weeks. W. W. Foote and F. W. In it he advocated a tariff reform as a remedial measure for the financial straits. He also wants the Sherman Act repealed. Rev. Robert Whitaker, the new pastor of the Baptist Church on Twenty-third Avenue, was tendered a hearty reception by his parishioners last night. Addresses and light refreshments composed the evening's entertainment. The Ute Indians have broken into Colorado from Utah, and it is expected that raids will result. The Governor of the state has called upon General McCook to fight the intruders if need be, and that officer has his men in readiness. Assistant District Attorney A. L. Frick has gone to San Diego for ten days of rest. Dr. H. E. Muller and wife have returned from their trip to Castle Crags. Miss Nina V. Ellsworth has returned from the Santa Cruz mountains. INTERESTING PEOPLE

Of King Nicholas of Montenegro some body writes that "he stops people to examine their guns and pistols and rates anybody who carries them unloaded." Which recalls an anecdote related of himself by Count Moltke, when, in 1855, he accompanied the crown prince of Prussia to Moscow to attend the coronation of Alexander II. At a ball in the Kremlin Moltke was introduced to a group of picturesque potentates from central Asia, with their girdles stuck full of daggers and pistols in the Albanian manner, and he begged to know whether these firearms of theirs were loaded. "Why should I carry them if they were not loaded?" replied the spokesman of the party; and in a letter to his English wife Moltke confessed that he had never experienced such a setback all his life. "Here at last," he said, "I have found the danger of being a man who is what he looks and means what he says."

All along the road to Lexington from Cambridge, Mass., there are monuments to rebel colonists who slew British soldiers on April 19, 1776, but the most striking is that which is raised to the memory of Samuel Whittemore. He was 50 years of age at the time, and he killed three British soldiers with his own hand. The stone records that for this he received punishment of three kinds. He was shot, he was bayoneted and he was beaten. He was then, reasonably enough, left for dead. The old fellow must have had a magnificent constitution and a spirit which the most devoted optimist might envy. For the inscription goes on to say that he recovered and lived to the age of 95.

Mr. Roosevelt's successful count of his glasses to win his libel action contrasts present customs with those of England eighty years ago. G. W. E. Russell remarks: "Mr. Gladstone, conspicuous from his Oxford days for his moderation in the use of wine, told me that until Sir Andrew Clark invited him on grounds of his to a certain number of glasses he had never thought of counting them. One drink what was put in one glass without a pause of questioning."

LODGER MISSING SINCE JULY THIRD

Peter Frich Leaves Hotel With Two Men and Does Not Reappear

Mysterious circumstances surround the disappearance of Peter Frich, Villa hotel, 328 East Tenth street. Two men drove up to the hotel, July 30, and induced Frich to leave the hotel hastily with them. He failed to return, although he left all his belongings in his room at the Villa.

The disappearance of Frich was reported to the police today by the proprietor of the hotel, who had waited in vain for some word from the missing man. It is feared that Frich may have been the victim of foul play.

Frich is described as being 27 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighing 185 pounds, of fair complexion with light hair and blue eyes. He spoke with a broad Scotch accent. When last seen he wore a blue suit of clothes and black shoes.

The police last night found James E. Hyland, an aged and infirm man who had been missing from the county hospital since July 30, at 615 Fifty-fourth street, where he had taken refuge while ill and was being cared for. The old man was removed to the receiving hospital for treatment.

"EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN"

"It is often the exceptionally bright child, even the genius, whom we find on the wrong side," says Dr. Maximilian F. E. Grossmann, discussing the education of exceptional children in the annual report of the United States Commissioner of Education, just issued. "The stupid and weak-minded criminal is not as dangerous as the clever and intellectual criminal."

Dr. Grossmann urges that public attention be directed to all types of exceptional children, not merely to the feeble-minded and degenerate, who, no matter how undesirable a factor they may be in society, are by no means the whole problem. He points out that the problem of the exceptional child is by no means merely the problem of the "defective," or the "sub-normal," or the "abnormal" child. Often it is a case of misdirected ability on the part of a gifted mind, or the problem of child-growth and development as affecting criminal tendencies. Sometimes it

Grossmann. He considers the great lesson of the year to be the need for intelligent, united effort on the part of educators, medical men, social workers, charity organizations, welfare societies, juvenile courts and other agencies that have been active in the endeavor to remedy early neglect of exceptional conditions. His point is that each of these separate agencies is doing commendable work, but that they must now join forces.

Dr. Grossmann asks compulsory education for all children, "exceptional" as well as others. He contends that it is a mistake to exempt the exceptional child from the compulsory law. He declares: "The very children who need special attention and who may become burdens and dangers to society are dependent for their education, special training, and custody upon the good will of their parents, who are often enough disinclined to follow the right course. We need legislation which would establish the right of the community to direct the education and training of the state and municipality an authority which can not be superseded by parental prejudice. We also need legislation which would establish such a board or boards as can regulate and determine the disposition which is to be made of every child according to his need and the good of the community."

LATEST NEWS FROM CITY OF RICHMOND

RICHMOND CLUB WANTS HIGHWAY

Scenic Boulevard Is Endorsed, Also Fire Alarm Signal System

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—That the construction of the proposed boulevard along the slope of the hills facing and overlooking the outer harbor of the city from the present terminal of Marine drive, westerly to the road and from San Pablo, which is now being paved and improved by the Standard Oil Company and other industries using the highway, is a matter which should receive early attention from the city council was the gist of a resolution from the Commercial Club of the west side, which will be presented to the city authorities at the regular meeting next Monday evening.

The club decided to urge immediate action on the matter and to cooperate with the council in the work to be done. The club also endorsed the plan of the city authorities for the installation of a complete fire alarm and police signal system, the contract for which has already been let and against which some members of a woman's club tried unsuccessfully to bring about a referendum election. The system will be put in and lower fire insurance rates are promised because of it.

SANTA FE FILES ANSWER IN SUIT

Alleges That Proposed Tunnel at Richmond May Work Damage

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—The Santa Fe Railroad Company has filed its answer in the suit of the city of Richmond against that corporation and a copy of the document was served on City Attorney Hall last evening. The Union Trust Company of New York, owner of the mortgage bonds of the railroad corporation, also a party to this suit, has not yet filed its answer, but it is expected it will raise the same objections to the proposed tunnel as the city. The requirement of the right of way for the proposed tunnel by the city as the Santa Fe company has.

The answer filed by the railroad company is a lengthy document, but the main objection raised is that fears are expressed that the tunnel, if constructed, will be a danger to the city by the possibility of its collapsing should the city dig the tunnel. The answer also alleges that the tunnel, if constructed, will be a danger to the city by the possibility of its collapsing should the city dig the tunnel.

CONTRA COSTA PROTESTS EXHIBITION CHARGE

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—Commissioner John Birmingham, in charge of the Contra Costa exhibition at the Panama-Pacific Exhibition, has been all over the city yesterday in pursuance of his official duties of making arrangements for a large and creditable exhibit for his county. Birmingham states that he is going to attend another meeting of the Central Coast Counties Committee, to be held in San Francisco soon for the purpose of selecting a site for exhibition purposes at the 1915 fair. Birmingham says he attended a meeting of this committee last month when the organization was formed and with Secretary G. W. Allen of Alameda county offered a protest against the proposed charge of $2.00 per foot for exhibition space. As only these two representatives offered protests on this matter they were unable to accomplish their purpose at that meeting to raise enough support to halt the attempt to shoulder this added burden upon the counties.

INTERESTED IN WATER PROJECT

Contra Costa Towns Ask for Information of Richmond Water Plans

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—That practically all the towns along the Contra Costa waterfront will be interested in the progress which the Richmond municipal water district makes in its efforts to secure water supply for this city and adjacent territory, not only to cover with the future growth of the community, is evidenced by many letters which are being received by Secretary J. S. Chandler of the water commission. That future co-operation between the local water district and the communities along the bay shore to the north and east to bring a large supply of water from the San Joaquin river to reservoir sites in the Grand Canyon creek district adjacent to San Pablo, is a matter that can probably be easily arranged is the opinion of many of the prominent officials and residents of the bay shore towns throughout this county. This is the opinion of Secretary Chandler, who is of the opinion that it is possible to secure plenty of water from the San Joaquin river a few miles north of Antioch. His company supplies Pittsburg from a system of wells and would like to co-operate with the Richmond water district. District Attorney B. McKenna also writes that Martinez is much interested and would be pleased to join in a large project to supply all of the waterfront towns.

William Laidlaw of Crockett also writes to the local commission along the same lines. This important matter will likely be submitted to a vote of the people in the near future, and after that the question of bonds for financing will also be placed before the voters for determination.

MAY HOLD ANOTHER SCHOOL ELECTION

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—As soon as the board of education can determine just what the sentiment of the people is regarding the school bond situation it is likely that steps for another special election for school bonds for the purpose of erecting more buildings and buying more sites will be taken. Many people who worked and voted against the bonds at the election of August 1 have since come forth with the proposition that the proposals for school houses and sites in different sections of the city be placed on the ballot separately. In this manner the public could express its opinion on any of the various buildings and sites wanted by the board. The people living east of the Southern Pacific tracks and in the annexed Pullman and Stege districts feel that they were not treated right at the recent election in that they have voted for bonds and supported the desires of other sections of the city in securing schools needed. This fact, coupled with the fact that a large majority of the people of Richmond were in favor of the bonds but failed to go to the polls and say so.

RICHMOND NOTES

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—Final details for the big get-together banquet to be held at the West Side Commercial Club are all completed and it will be a very enjoyable affair. Among the many prominent guests from outside points will be William Laidlaw of Crockett, the Brewster Drivers' Union of the bay cities will hold its annual outing at Grand Canyon Park next Sunday.

The Richmond Industrial Committee will hold a meeting and banquet this evening at the Canyon Club. Mrs. H. Gregory, wife of Constable Gregory is reported to be living at the point of death at her home here. She has been an invalid for the past year and last week her condition took a turn for the worse.

Mrs. Ottilie Proberg, wife of J. R. Proberg of this city, died at Stockton last evening, where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

T. Salisbury, of Richmond, sentenced to serve 180 days in the county jail on a charge of battery preferred by his wife, has retained attorneys and will apply for a writ of habeas corpus.

The local Elks hall team are to play a match game here Sunday with the marines of the battleship Cleveland, which is anchored at Mare Island. The Cleveland jacks team is considered one of the fastest teams in the navy and has twice won the navy pennant.

A movement is on foot to have the company of rough riders which recently gave the rodeo at Sausalito, to give a two or three days' exhibition in Richmond some time in the early part of next month.

A local postoffice received the long-looked-for cancellation machine yesterday evening and is busy getting it in working order. It will greatly facilitate the work of the office force.

A P. Teller, telephone collector, has returned home after an absence of several weeks, and was greatly surprised to learn that his place had been taken by his remaining away longer on his vacation than he had announced upon leaving. Not hearing from him, his wife and friends feared that something had happened to him.

BIG GAS RESERVOIR TO BE BUILT AT RICHMOND

RICHMOND, Aug. 8.—Work on the foundation for the big gas-holding tank which the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will erect on its property at the corner of First street and Chastant avenue, will be commenced the first of next week, as the company expects to let the contract for the job this afternoon. The call for bids has been issued. The big gas reservoir will be located on the extreme edge of the company's property, as far away from residences as possible. The matter of building this monster gas tank was delayed by the city for some time, owing to objections by adjacent residents, but the agreement to the Richmond council of the city and the company's Oakland reservoirs changed public opinion materially and there is no longer any objection offered.

BUTTE CITY FIRE DOES $60,000 DAMAGE

WILLIAMS, Aug. 8.—The entire business portion of Butte City, Glenn county, a bustling little river town, was destroyed by fire yesterday with the exception of the W. F. Miller store.

The property loss is estimated at close to $60,000.

The fire started at 2:30 o'clock in the kitchen of the Dyer hotel, a two-story frame structure. At 5 p. m. the business district had been burned over.

Citizens fought the fire with all the means at hand after the pump house, which furnished the town's water supply, had burned, but their efforts availed little.

A steamer which came along when the fire broke out, would jump to the waterfront, landed the volunteer fire fighters a pump and hose and enabled them to protect the warehouses and buildings along the river.

Burning embers set adjoining stubble fields on fire and burned a number of homes and outlying buildings.

The larger business houses destroyed were:

—Barnett's, 1448 San Pablo avenue, next to the new, big Kahn building.

The city is cut off from telephone and telegraphic communication tonight.

If the fire had reached the river warehouses great quantities of sacked grain would have been destroyed.

SUFFRAGE? PEOPLE TO SAY: ASQUITH

Premier Declares Women Must Prove Desirability of Change

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Premier Asquith discussed woman suffrage today with Mrs. Millicent Fawcett, president of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies, and her non-militant colleagues. They met him in his official residence and urged him to bring in a government measure bestowing the franchise on women.

The premier complimented his visitors on their excellent methods, which he said, were "a welcome contrast to the criminal proceedings of the militant suffragettes." He, however, frankly declared that he had undergone no change of heart in the matter.

"The final word on woman suffrage," said Asquith, "rests with the people of the United Kingdom. If the women are able to convince the people that such a change is desirable and beneficial, no combination in the world can prevent the attainment of their object."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The saloon of E. Montanari, 1189 Stockton street, was entered by a burglar, who used a side window, early this morning. Ten dollars was taken from the till and a quantity of liquor was also stolen.

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

SEASON'S PROGRAM WILL SOON BE READY

The program for the winter sports in the local playgrounds will be announced within a fortnight by the Oakland playground commission. The supervisors are now assisting in compiling the games, which will furnish entertainment and recreation for the boys and girls.

On Saturday, August 16, the all-day sessions, which have been conducted under the supervision of the skilled playground directors since the public schools closed last June, will terminate. The grounds will be opened throughout the afternoon during the school days and all day Saturday and the holidays, as has been the custom in the past.

Mosswood Park playground will be open until 8 o'clock every evening, but the playground equipment, the tennis courts and the rackets will be at the disposal of the patrons of the park.

Probably the games of Garfield, Tompkins and De Fremery Park playgrounds will be unlocked up to 8 o'clock every evening as they have been during the past seven weeks.

Helen Macgregor is the youngest bagpipe performer in California and it is stated that she is the only juvenile player west of the Rocky Mountains.

At the opening entertainment to be given by the pupils of Miss Hilma Buttlar, Helen will contribute a number of songs and dances, which she has been practicing for many months.

FAVORS NEW IDEA FOR SCHOOL RULE

Commission Form of Government in Department Advocated by Dr. Kelly

Extension of the commission form of government to the school department has been urged by Dr. A. S. Kelly, president of the school directors, as a more efficient method of handling school matters. A paid board of school commissioners, the number to be reduced to three or four, to handle business and educational matters for the school department has been suggested, and it is recommended that the charter should be amended to make this possible.

Other members of the board of education are also in favor of a change from the present form of government. John Forrest, Frank B. Cook and Calvin Orr are said to favor the change.

"I believe the time has come when an educational commission is necessary in place of the present form of board government," said Dr. Kelly. "The commission form of school government has been tried out in other cities with great success, especially where the department is so large that it necessitates the whole time of the board. The Oakland school department is rapidly reaching this stage. More time should be devoted to it, but this can be done only by having a paid school commission which would devote its whole time to school matters."

CROP REPORT IS KEENLY AWAITED

Wall Street Also Hears the Reports of Corn Damage

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Extraordinary interest attached in Wall street to the government crop report to be published this afternoon because of the serious damage to corn and other conflicting or uncertain conditions. The stock market showed the effect of this situation by remaining quiet for the greater part of the early session, after opening moderately active and firm. Union Pacific and New Haven fell a point each, the latter being sold on rumors of a future dividend. St. Paul and Northern Pacific were up a point. Wabash issues were strong, the preferred rising three points, and Lackawanna Steel was the feature of the industrial, gaining 7 1/2.

Coppers were firm in anticipation of a favorable producers' report. Bonds were irregular.

WEST OAKLAND DID NOT WIN THIS CONTEST

On Wednesday afternoon the girls' baseball team from De Fremery made a trip to Fruitvale where they crossed bats with the teams of Melrose, Fruitvale and Fremont high. The West Oakland girls have held the championship in the playgrounds for the last two or three years and this is the first defeat that this team of ball players has sustained.

The De Fremery players took the short end of the score by 21 to 9. The visitors put up a very game fight with only seven players on their team against the picked nine of the three West Oakland grounds. A return game will be played at De Fremery. Helen Elliott pitched good ball for the winners.

In the sixth game of the series between Clawson and De Fremery the latter tied up the fourth game to their credit in the third inning. Clawson was in the lead but from then on De Fremery settled down and shut the home team out. O'Connor pitched for De Fremery and got 12 strikes out to his credit. McCrea, O'Connor, Dooley and Barney got two batters during the game. The following is the score (and the rest of the game):

Bushrod Bantams took a trip to De Fremery where they crossed bats with the home team in a very one-sided game. Inghram pitched great ball for the home team, and behind the bat did fine work for the home team. The score was 21 to 4 at the end of the seventh inning. Cook did some good work for the visitors but lacked good support.

QUAKE DESTROYS PERUVIAN TOWNS

THINKS MINER HAS BEEN KILLED

Wife Seeks Tidings of Missing Man; Foul Play Suspected

Newspaper Item Only Clew to Fate of Truman A. Manuel

Has Truman A. Manuel, a mining man of Alaska, been murdered? Mrs. Stella Manuel, his wife, of 814 Thirteenth street, believes so and with that belief is mingled all the horror, suspense and heartache that time and distance lends to such a situation. Until three months ago Manuel, who has been a mining operator in the Klondike for fourteen years, sent to his family, living in Oakland, a regular fixed income which was more than enough for their needs. The separation was a necessary one, for the Alaskan was seeking a good income from his claims. All luck he can get to grip the fortunes of the man, however, and when the gold began to grow scarce in his mines he wrote to his wife that it would be necessary for him to sell some of his mining machinery so that the large bill incurred in Oakland might be paid. "His claims were situated forty-five miles from Ruby City," said Mrs. Manuel this morning, at 1106 Jackson street, where she is employed as a domestic. "They had been paying excellently until a year ago when the rock was encountered and the vein of metal receded. He was discouraged, of course, but always sent us money. It was necessary for us to pay a large bill, however, and I wrote him, pleading for funds. He wrote us a hasty letter, which I received May 15, saying that he would soon realize the money and in a week or so send it to us. He mentioned the possible sale of valuable mining hoists and other machinery, and assured us of the quick dispatching of the necessary funds by telegraph. That was the last I heard of him. I am sure he is dead and have been sure since the latter part of May."

DID NOT DRINK. "Mr. Manuel was a teetotaler—a steady, sure man, who thought too much of his family to indulge in the weaknesses of other men. I have been frantic and until yesterday there had been no clew to substantiate my claim that he had been murdered for the money that he had so recently realized from the sale of the machinery. That clew was an item in a Seattle newspaper of August 1, in which a Mrs. Alice Harriman, a writer, who went to Alaska in the interests of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, described the burial of a man, named Manuel, who had been killed by a bear. The item reads as follows: "The most affecting incident was at Ruby. A man had died up there, so his companions fastened a crude box, filled with the bones of the bear, and placed it in the hands of the bear. The animal, being extremely warm in latter May, took their lone mule and started for town. The animal slowly crawled to the top of the hill where the body was laid until judgment day."

Mrs. Manuel believes that this was the crude burial of her husband. "The time and the circumstances are too much like the real thing to be mistaken. The distance is the same from Ruby in the woman's story as it is from the mine where the bear was killed. The time, which must be near May 20 or 25, is identical with the time that the Harriman party must have been near Ruby City. My husband was extremely well known in all of the Alaskan camps. Why have I not been notified?"

WROTE LETTERS. "I have written letter after letter—I am too poor to telegraph—and have not as yet received word from the authorities here. He must have realized at least $300 from the sale of his machinery and the money or gold dust is a great temptation in that wild country where banks or vaults are unknown. "I will communicate at once with the Chamber of Commerce in the Washington city and the newspaper. I think that they can trace Mrs. Harriman for me and get from her a few more definite facts—perhaps the name of the dead man. Is that body in the rough wood box that of my husband? Where is he?"

WEBB-KENYON LAW DECLARED INVALID

OTTUMWA, Ia., Aug. 8.—The Webb-Kenyon law is declared to be unconstitutional and void in that it is a delegation by Congress to the state of power of regulating interstate commerce in intoxicating liquors, which power is vested in Congress exclusively, in a decision handed down today by District Judge Francis M. Hunter. The case was that of the state against the United States Express Company, charged with violating the Webb-Kenyon law by delivering shipments of intoxicating liquors to points within the state.

ON TRAIL OF PRINCE AND PRINCE

United States Marshals Seek Sulkowski at Lake Tahoe

Nobleman Accused of Violating Mann White Slave Law

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—The honeymoon of Prince Stanislaus Sulkowski and his bride of a fortnight, who was Miss Marie Louise Freese of Los Angeles, has become a game of hide and seek between the prince and deputy United States marshals of two states. As the result of testimony given by Mrs. Clara Melcher, a Venetian laundress, a warrant was issued in Los Angeles, at the request of the United States attorney there, charging the prince with violation of the Mann act, known as the white slave law. Mrs. Melcher gave the prince some uneasy hours in Los Angeles, but before the warrant was sworn out he carried away his bride and left, according to the best information of the marshal's office, for Lake Tahoe, which lies on the California-Nevada boundary. It became necessary, accordingly, to issue a new warrant from the office of the marshal for the northern district of California in San Francisco, and a deputy was sent from here to the lake. The latest word from the deputy today was that he had not found the honeymoons, but believed that he had them bottled in some one of the camps on the shores of the lake. The Nevada marshal is co-operating and Reno and Carson City, as well as all the lake points, are being closely watched. If an arrest is made Prince Sulkowski probably will be brought to the nearest United States commissioner at Stockton for a hearing. If he waives a hearing there he will be taken to Los Angeles for trial.

SISTERS TO AID ESQUIMAUX BOY

Deaf Mute Will Be Educated in a Local Institution

From far northern Alaska has come a little 8-year-old deaf Esquimaux boy to be educated by the Sisters of St. Joseph at their training school, Fortieth and Telegraph. He has been unable to hear all his life, and it was six months ago that the Holy Cross mission, in the land of snow, found the child and determined to educate him. The first rudiments of lip reading and deaf mute training were given to him at the northern school, and his progress was noticeable because of a keen mind and eagerness to learn. Before long he had learned all that the Alaska instructors could teach him, and it was then decided to send him to the St. Joseph school in this city. The little fellow will write his own name, Joseph Kametoff, and pronounce a few simple words. That he will progress in the studies of the Sisters, and Father Kavanagh, of San Francisco, who brought the little fellow from the northern land, is positive in his assertions that the boy will soon be more than proficient. If this lad's progress is marked, a deaf girl from the same tribe will be sent to the local institution for the same kind of training—she also being dumb.

INSPECTORS ARREST OPIUM SMUGGLERS

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 8.—More than $2000 worth of opium was secured by the federal authorities last night when Customs inspectors Evans arrested A. J. Perry and Eddie Webster, two young men from San Diego, at Nestor, in the Tia Juana Valley, as they were attempting to smuggle the opium across the international boundary. Webster, who is a taxicab driver, made a full confession. He said the opium was intended for a Chinese and declared he was hired by Perry who offered him $20 to help him smuggle the contraband across the border.

POETESS ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

AGEN, France, Aug. 8.—Mme. Alice Crespy, a minor poetess, whose trial for the murder of Abbe Chassagnac, a priest, on January 13, last, has been going on here for several days, was today acquitted by the jury of the Assises Court.

SMOKE SPOILS AEROPLANE FLIGHT

C. M. Wood, Racing Train, Lands Within 23 Miles of Goal

Non-Stop Journey From New York to Washington Is Almost Success

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—C. M. Wood, the American aviator, who began a non-stop race with a railroad train from New York to Washington at 4:30 a. m. for the American duration, distance and speed record, lost his way and was forced to land at Galtersburg, Md., at 9 o'clock, 23 miles from his goal. He lost his way while over Baltimore because of heavy smoke clouds and finally was forced to land because of engine trouble. He came down from a height of 7000 feet and made a good landing on the farm of J. B. Diamond, on the Galtersburg Pike. Wood got to the nearest telephone and called up Washington to ask that his mechanics be sent to put his engine in condition to resume his flight to Fort Meyer, where he was to have landed, demonstrated the efficiency of his monoplane for war purposes before a number of army officers and then began a return flight to New York in an attempt to capture the record for the longest aeroplane flight between sunrise and sunset. "I passed Baltimore away ahead of the train," said Wood, "and then I ran over smoke clouds that were so heavy I could not see anything. I was flying about 7000 feet up, then and was going fast. I could not see my way, so I came down to about 4000 feet to see if that would help out any, but it did not and when I got far enough down to see clearly it was evident that I was entirely out of my course, and then my engine stopped. So I came down and made a good landing, just getting over the telephone wires on the 'pile.'"

The train Wood was racing with and which had made a non-stop run from New York with official guests of the Aero Club did not arrive in Washington until 9:50 a. m. Wood's assistants, when they learned of his mishap, hurried on to Galtersburg to get his machine in condition to resume the flight. The American records for endurance, sustained flight and non-stop flying are all held by Lieutenant Thomas D. Milling, U. S. A., whose official figures are 250 miles, from Texas City to San Antonio, Tex., in three hours and ten minutes. He remained in the air flying for one hour and 11 minutes after reaching San Antonio, making his endurance figures four hours and 27 minutes.

CANNOT LIVE WITHOUT 'BILLY'

Girl's Plea Results in Release of Man Accused of Perjury

W. C. Cochran, the San Francisco merchant who was arrested for perjury on the complaint of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Marhan, for having sworn falsely as to age of his wife, was allowed to leave the city when his case came up for preliminary examination. The case was dismissed on the motion of Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Hennessy, at the request of the complaining witness, Mrs. Marhan. "My daughter has run away from me, and has written me letters saying that she will take her life unless she can have her husband again," said Mrs. Marhan. "She will not obey me, and she writes me letters that she must have her Billy. I cannot see what I am to do, and I am going to ask that he be dismissed."

Mrs. Marhan saw Hennessy and made her request. She did not appear in court. Cochran was arrested about a month ago and has been held in the Oakland city prison since that time, unable to furnish bond. The daughter was taken to her mother's home, but ran away. Later Mrs. Marhan told the police that her daughter was being held a prisoner, and had been kidnapped. She proved that when the case of the girl stated that she had been happy with her husband, she said she would run away again if given into the custody of her mother. The marriage occurred last January in Oakland, when the girl was under 16 years of age. Cochran is said to have sworn that she was 15 years old. Cochran was about 55 years of age, and the mother of the girl wished to have the marriage annulled. He was charged with perjury on a felony charge for alleged false swearing. Cochran conducts a notion store in Fillmore street in San Francisco.

WHIRLING BELT SPREADS FIRE BIG BLAZE IN THE LEONA MINE

PICTURES OF QUARRY BREAKER PLANT AT LEONA HEIGHTS REDUCED TO CHARRED TIMBERS BY LAST NIGHT'S DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

HEAVY LOSS AT CHEMICAL PLANT

Firemen Battle to Save Homes Nearby From Destruction

A huge rubber belt, ignited by a fire started in the motor room late yesterday afternoon, carried a blaze through the entire mining plant of the Leona chemical works, spreading a fire, the damage from which will run over $200,000, and which endangered the entire Leona valley. The fire raged in the mine works and in the dry grass among the hills until midnight, while the fire fighters, hampered by lack of water, were unable to control the flames. Over 100 men fought the blaze, which was at last placed under control, leaving in its wake blackened hillsides and a mass of ruins where one of the largest plants in the east bay region had stood. The fire was one of the most spectacular ever seen in the annexed district, the smoke and flame being visible for miles. The company officials are unable today to fix the exact amount of damage, as many of the tools and accessories lost were not inventoried. The plant originally cost over $300,000, it is declared.

STARTS IN BREAKERS

The fire started in the sulphide breakers of the chemical company, in the hills of Leona Heights, and, it is believed, was caused by a defective motor. A huge rubber tramway belt, whirling through the wooden apparatus which sorted the mined sulphide taken from the quarries nearby and carried it to the breaker, became a sheet of flame and before the engines could be stopped carried the fire in its revolutions throughout the sulphide apparatus. The men at work in the motor room narrowly escaped with their lives. The fire departments of Fruitvale and Oakland hurried to the scene, but as there was little water were unable to save the property. The big belt, which was 300 feet long, one-half inch thick and two feet wide, was valued with the tramway at $60,000. The breaker was valued at $25,000. The bunkers were valued at $35,000, and besides these losses tools, machinery, material and accessories went up in smoke.

BOY IS HERO

The hero of the fire was a boy of 14, Ardath Gould, living in the vicinity of the mine. When he saw the flames, rushed to the boarding house nearby, where men employed at the works lived, and succeeded in bringing into play water from a standpipe near this building. The property was saved. Only one of the planks on this apparatus was far enough to be of use, say the fire officials. Fire Chief Ball of Oakland hastened to the scene when, shortly before 5 o'clock, the news of the fire reached him. He assumed control of the fire-fighters who combated the flames and later fought the grass fire which threatened damage to the few homes near the quarry. Men were hastily sent to the scene of the blaze by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, who dispatched forty to the fire, and by the Leona chemical works plant in Elmhurst, which sent fifty, and these were supplemented by recruits from the neighborhood. The work was rendered extremely difficult through lack of apparatus and water, but all homes were saved. No one was injured. The breaker plant prepared the sulphide mined in the Leona hills for the chemical plant proper, situated at the foot of Fiftieth avenue, in Elmhurst. The works consisted of a mine, a tramway for carrying the ore or sulphide and the breaker, which crushed the rock in preparation for

STARTED IN MOTOR

The fire, it is believed, started in the motor room shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was discovered a few moments later when the flames ignited the great rubber belt. A dash and the stench of burned rubber warned the men in the plant of their danger. The swiftly moving belt had, in the meantime, carried the fire through the breakers and to the bunkers where the material is stored and before the alarm was turned in the fire had assumed grave proportions. The standing which saved the boarding house was too far away to be of use. The engine room, constructed of concrete and iron, was not burned. The mines had not been in operation for four months and the machinery was started yesterday on trial preparatory to active operations. Planned next week. Superintendent R. P. Edgecombe and a force of 13 men were at work in the breaker and bunkers and three men were in the motor room. The machinery had been running for some time and all seemed well.

FIRE SPREADS

As the belt caught and spread the fire hurried calls were put in for the Oakland fire department. The automobile engines made a record-breaking run up the steep hills and over the rough roads to the quarry, which is far away from the city streets. Fire Chief Ball saw at a glance that the

WATCHMAN DISCOVERS FIRE

James Blewer, a watchman, first discovered the smoke coming from the building and made an attempt to arrest the blaze. He was handicapped through the failure of the water supply and quickly gave the alarm. The fire department was notified, and the Realty Syndicate rushed a corps of fire fighters to the scene. Ransome-Crummey Company workers also responded to the call. From the bunkers the first spread to the machine shops, thence to the tool shops and workmen's cottages. Several explosions occurred when the fire reached the sheds in which powder had been stored, but as the fire fighters had been warned of the danger, nobody was hurt when these occurred. The firemen under Assistant Chief Sam Short made their hardest fight here, and kept the fire from getting beyond control.

LAND FOR WIRELESS STATION PURCHASED

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 8.—Purchase of 200 acres of land on a high hill near San Diego has been recommended to the Navy Department by the navy board that recently inspected locations here for a wireless station, according to Fred Thompson, civil engineer in the department. When the new station is built it will have quarters for the officer in charge and a force of twenty-five men. The wireless station now on Point Loma will be moved to the new location. Thompson was not able to state when work would be begun, but said it would be before many weeks. When completed, he said, it will be as powerful as any in the world.

STEAL WHISKY

PRAGUE, Okla., Aug. 8.—A party of unknown men broke into the jail here and stole $7 gallons of whisky and a barrel of beer which Sheriff Frank C. Niles seized at the depot last Wednesday. The sheriff stored the liquor in the jail pending instructions from the state officials as to what should be done with it.

Jealousy Cause of Murder

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 8.—Jealousy—not a clash of Japanese clans—was responsible, the police believed today, for the murder in Salem's Chinatown last night of three Japanese. Tami Koda, wife of a restaurant proprietor, her baby and Koyo Kawawa, a cook, were the victims. Y. Koda, the woman's husband, and Joe Matsura, a saloon porter, are in custody pending an investigation. A huge butcher knife and a revolver were used by the slayer or slayers. The child's head was almost severed. First reports of the tragedy indicated that the three had been killed in a riot.

Bind Student, Steal Jewels

PASADENA, Aug. 8.—Securely bound and gagged, Richard G. Place, Jr., a university student, was found early today in the home of his parents, where he had been attacked by burglars, who obtained diamonds valued at $600. When the robbers departed Place wriggled to an open window and, in spite of the gag, managed to attract the attention of the police. He was able to furnish a complete description of the burglars.

The engagement of Miss Rose Farrell and H. MARRIED IN BUNGALOW. A number of guests took part in the wedding of Miss Margaret Flower and Julian Kinzie in Mill Valley this afternoon, which took place in the attractive bungalow which the bride-elect and her mother are occupying this summer. The ceremony was marked with the utmost simplicity, there being no attendants on the bride or groom. Mr. and Mrs. Kinzie left shortly after the wedding for Chicago, where they will be the guests of "relatives of the groom." The grandfather of Kinzie was one of the first settlers in Chicago, and constructed the first building there. Recently a statue has been erected in his honor, and will be unveiled during the visit of the young couple in the south.

While sojourning in the Yosemite she made several sketches of the most beautiful spots in the valley. Among other artists to choose the Yosemite for their summer recreation were Andrew P. Hill and Mr. Harmon.

HOSTESS AT FIVE HUNDRED. Mrs. J. C. Fay entertained with a delightfully appointed luncheon in honor of Mrs. Jack Van of Seattle, who is the house guest of Mrs. Benjamin McFarland of Alameda, at her home on Seventh avenue. REDUCING THE FLESH

By LILLIAN RUSSELL. (Copyrighted, 1913, by Lillian Russell.)

THERE is nothing in the way of beauty culture which entails so much trouble and hardship as reducing one's flesh, and few women accomplish it, although you never see a fat woman who does not declare she has tried all the latest fads. The woman who can take off twenty-five pounds of flesh adds hundreds of pounds to her power of will. The woman who can reduce her flesh successfully can accomplish almost anything, besides being able to resist any temptation that she from whom she wishes to tell them something they can take into their stomachs to reduce their flesh. I am sure these women will forgive me if I say that from their letters I find they are too indolent to reduce themselves. There are some physical organisms whose assimilation is much above normal; these organisms are usually lymphatic as well. A woman whose assimilation is above normal is usually more or less adverse to exercise. She likes good things to eat and will deny herself nothing. When she has filled herself to repletion, instead of taking proper exercise to burn up this fuel she allows it to be converted into fat.

Such a woman would rather take a drug into her system which not only might ruin her health, leaving her a nervous wreck or a feeble invalid, but which may prove fatal within a few short weeks.

Iodine and thyroid tablets have been known to have fatal effects. In many cases, even rubbing iodine on the skin is injurious. I have questioned many able physicians on the subject and have learned that the tissues absorb the drug almost as quickly from the outer application as they do from taking it internally. Iodine literally eats the lining out of the stomach.

If you really wish to be thin you must work for it—nothing in the world is accomplished except by hard work. An abstemious diet, plenty of exercise, and patience will reduce any one to normal weight. Remember health is the most essential requisite not only for beauty but for happiness, social success, affluence, professional or artistic success, even love, nothing if we have not the health to enjoy them.

I cannot imagine a woman with so little reason as to jeopardize her life by taking poisonous drugs into her stomach to feed a foolish vanity. I have known women who are lazy enough to sit around the house, eat and drink all they want to, and at the same time pray to be thin.

Walk—take plenty of exercise, either in gymnasium or in your own home. Eat sparingly of fat producing foods. Don't get the insanity stare in your eyes and hollows in your cheeks by taking poisonous drugs to reduce your flesh.

Some skins are naturally much more than others and require less watching, while some require constant grooming to keep this condition from arising, or, if it has developed, to overcome it. A treatment that is usually successful is to scrub the arms first with a stiff flesh brush, not a common complexion brush, as its bristles are too fine, and a pure soap. The scrubbing should be rather vigorous and followed with applications of hot towels. Keep this up until the skin is red, soft and velvety, and until every pore is open to drink in a soothing cream, which should be applied with gentle friction. I shall be glad to send you the formula for an excellent cream if you care for it and will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

MISS GRACE—Penzance. If not used too freely, is excellent for the skin. It is frequently added to recipes for cold cream and lotions for its preservative and astringent qualities. To prepare it at home the gum is purchased and added in small bits to pure alcohol until the last bit is dissolved; this is the saturated solution or tincture. A few drops poured into water will make a sort of milk that is refreshing and cooling, but if used too often or too freely dries out the natural oils in the skin and causes many fine lines. I shall mail you the recipe for an inexpensive French tonic for the eyebrows.

THE GIRL WHO KEEPS A BEVY OF GIRLS AND BOYS OUT ON HER PORCH UNTIL AFTER 10 o'clock realize that mother is kept indoors and from getting cool air. She has labored hard in the heat of the day in doing up the soft white mull dress that daughter wears so gracefully. When this young boy asks for a glass of water, and another voices his request, and per-haps her mother does not feel called upon to bring out a pitcher of lemonade to assuage the thirst of the crowd. She cannot serve this beverage without cutting into the cake she has saved for the morrow.

Young folks look for enjoyment in the dear old summer time. They form habits which cling to them the rest of their lives.

The strict mother should give long and serious consideration toward keeping her young folks at home of a summer evening in contrast to the mother who is too lax with her children allowing them to stay out as long as they please.

When a choice has to be made between keeping young daughters at home on sultry evenings or allowing them to enjoy the cool air of the park till a late hour, it seems to me that parents would better choose the latter course and accompany them.

IS GOING TO A PARTY WITH "JOHN." "Dear Miss Libbey: If you know a young man of fair good acquaintance, who without permission kissed you good night, what would be your attitude toward him? If you make a row about it, they have the opinion you are really hinting at a kind of performance. To just ignore the party or to hold aloof would be better, but if further insulting remarks or actions occur, what should I turn to? As I intend to go to a party in a few days, I shall be glad to hear your opinion.

Give the fellow to understand plainly that you do not approve of his actions. Tell him frankly that you would think more of him if he would discontinue such attempts at familiarity. Don't be afraid of offending him. He will think lots more of you if you are perfectly frank with him.

Search All Passengers Brooch Is Missing

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—In the hunt for a $500 diamond and pearl brooch stolen from the stateroom of Miss Sophia Miller of San Francisco, one hundred and fifty passengers on board the steamship Tahiti were lined up and searched by the police yesterday shortly after the ship berthed at Folsom street.

Miss Miller and her sister, Esther, were returning from a pleasure trip to Tahiti. The theft, she declares, was made possible by the carelessness of the stewardess.

On the corner of Webster and Vallejo streets Miss Michelson owns a building containing five flats, in one of which she lives. At 2210 Vallejo street lives Schilling. The wine dealer does not like the Michelsons. They do not meet with his ardent wishes of the times of things.

According to Miss Michelson's attorneys, who are Cullinan & Hickey, and her brother, Albert Michelson, Schilling has "machiavolically maintained the fence for the purpose of annoying plaintiff, and to exclude light and air from the south side of the building."

FEARS TRIAL BY HER OWN SEX
PRESNO, Aug. 8.—Rather than leave her fate in the hands of twelve women, Miss Sade Smith, charged with battery, yesterday pleaded guilty before a Justice of the Peace in the county and was fined $10.

Miss Smith was arrested for engaging in a fight with a neighbor woman. The magistrate ordered that a venire of women be summoned for jurors. Miss Smith, who had previously pleaded not guilty, changed her plea when she learned that her fate was in the hands of her own sex.

MANAGER JAILED; WOMAN IS HAPPY
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Hugh M. Creighton, manager of the investment department of Hutton & Co., was locked up in Ludlow street jail, charged with grand larceny.

FULL SIZED FAMILY VISITS THE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Wilson interrupted his official business for a few minutes yesterday to greet what Secretary Tumulty eagerly named "a full sized family."

Representative John J. Casey of Pennsylvania, with Mrs. Casey, brought to the executive officers their eight children—six boys and two girls—ranging up to 12 years of age.

"Is this your flock?" asked the president as he spied them in the outer office. "Yes, all of them," replied Mr. Casey, as he proudly introduced the entire brood. In Boy Scout uniforms, lined up with the two-year-old sister before the president, who shook hands with each and wished them good luck.

Secretary Tumulty, who has six children, was an interested bystander.

MAYOR DEMANDS BETTER SERVICE

Improvements on Berkeley Lines Asked in Letter to Alhenger

BERKELEY, Aug. 3.—In an effort to secure improvement of service on the University Avenue line, against which complaint has been made by Rev. F. K. Morrison of St. Joseph's church, the several other persons and organizations, Mayor Heywood has sent a letter to General Manager W. R. Alhenger of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway Company. The letter was approved by the city council this morning.

Mayor Heywood also criticizes other details of the street car service in this city. He calls attention finally to the fact of the company to pave its right of way on Shattuck Avenue. The mayor's letter reads as follows:

"I have been a great deal of complaint made to the council of this city regarding your service. I have been told that the complaints are well founded. While this may not be considered by you as one of the most important lines you have in the city of Berkeley from a financial standpoint, nevertheless, it is from the standpoint of a public convenience, and it is a matter of public interest that you should improve the service on this line. I was personally a member of the committee that secured the placing of the depot at the foot of University Avenue from the Southern Pacific Company. Very strong argument was made that the company be allowed to build the depot on the present site and to have your company run its line across Fourth Street down to the old depot. We felt that all interests would be better served, however, by placing the depot at the foot of University Avenue, feeling that you would then improve your service."

"I think that the tracks should be doubled from San Pablo Avenue to Third Street, and would suggest if you can see your way clear that you put a second and a half minute service on this line."

"Another suggestion I have to make is the placing of a flagman at the corner of Shattuck Avenue and University Avenue. This should be done in the interest of all parties concerned. As you know, there are a great number of cars that cross this intersection every day. In my opinion, it is very poor business on your part to have your conductors leave their cars at this point."

"Quite often people coming in on the Telegraph, Euclid, Shattuck or College lines being a little late, run down to catch the car when it stops before crossing Shattuck Avenue and come aboard unannounced to the conductor, who is out in the middle of the track. Sooner or later there will be an accident at this crossing, which will cost a great deal more than the placing of a flagman."

"A flagman at this point would also obviate the present custom of cars coming from the west running up close to the Southern Pacific tracks, blocking the entire traffic sometimes for a whole minute. We trust that all these cars stop at the west of the crossing line so that the drivers do not extend out into Shattuck Avenue."

CEDAR STREET IS NOT TO BE CLOSED

Council Retracts Resolution After it Has Worried City Attorney a Year

BERKELEY, Aug. 3.—The Cedar street problem, the proposed closing of which has extracted some funds from several residents in the district, and none from others, and caused much perturbation to the city council this morning. The council retracted its former resolution ordering the work done.

Cedar street was to have been closed in northeast Berkeley in the center of a fashionable residence district to permit the developing of that neighborhood in a more artistic way than square corners and straight lines permitted. A resolution of intention was passed and the city attorney told to collect the preliminary

Because of disagreement with the plans on the part of at least half the property owners in the district the funds were not collectible except in part and the council paused in its plans. Since that time, close to a year ago, the attorney has been deluged with requests that he pay back the money. Hardheaded in such procedure by the fact that the resolution was still in effect, the attorney appealed to the council this morning, and that body retracted the resolution.

The appointment of Miss Louise Person as girls' instructor of playgrounds, was approved by the council. The appointment was made by the playground commission. The request of the Oakland Paving Company to improve Panoramic way was referred to Commissioner Turner.

The ordinance regulating the distribution of advertising matter and samples and providing police supervision thereof, was finally adopted. A report was received from Robert E. Hospital showing sixteen emergency cases attended to there during July.

PROMISE INVESTIGATION OF LOCAL WATERFRONT

BERKELEY, Aug. 3.—The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from the acting secretary of the navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt, promising full investigation of the claims of the local waterfront to recognition as a navy yard site. Secretary Drury has sent to Washington all available maps, drawings and other data referring to the site. The letter from Roosevelt is as follows:

"In reply to your letter transmitting resolutions, I beg to express this department's appreciation of the loyal and patriotic sentiments expressed by the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce and not with pleasure the unselfish pledge that the loyal support of the Chamber of Commerce will be given to the government upon such site as shall be determined on. The department has at present no appropriation for the purchase of another site in San Francisco Bay and has made no investigation of this matter, pending the wish of the secretary of the navy to the Pacific Coast. When the subject is taken up, however, the department will be pleased to inform you and to consider the data that already has been submitted with regard to the location of a naval station at Berkeley."

WATER MEETING IN ISLAND CITY

Alameda Chamber of Commerce Holds Gathering to Talk Over Situation

ALAMEDA, Aug. 3.—Following lengthy and at times somewhat heated discussion, a public meeting, called by the Alameda chamber of commerce and held in the offices of that organization, went on record last night as being opposed to the Water Company, under the present law. The speakers were all men who had made studies of the proposition, and appeared to have their subject well in hand.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Chairman Henry Rosenthal, on motion, appointed Green Majors and R. E. Bossard to represent the meeting at a session of the board of supervisors next Monday morning, and protest against the holding of the election, asking that it be Pointed out that the election was being held for the purpose of assisting the Peoples Water Company to recover on its plant, now that the business of the company is threatened by the proposition of bringing in a mountain supply, were freely made. That the men who drew up the new law were laying the foundation for a scheme of graft of municipal corporations, was another statement made.

DOCKWEILER GIVES VIEWS.

J. H. Dockweiler, one of those interested in the formation of the district, was the first speaker. Dockweiler is a water expert of unquestioned ability, and the study he has made of the conditions furnished a theme that, illustrated with maps of the district and the available water supplies of the county, was of timely and absorbing interest. Dockweiler went into the details of the present and possible supplies and said that with every source taxed to its utmost capacity, the available water from present sources would fall short of supplying the needs of the growing population of the east bay communities by 1926, and that by 1929 the available supplies of all the bay cities would fall short of the needs of the population.

However, Dockweiler was of the opinion that it would be a matter of great regret on the part of the people of this vicinity to purchase the plant and distribution system, and thus to safeguard, for all time to come, when the water had been brought in from the high mountain supply.

MILLER TAKES EXCEPTION.

C. H. Miller, president of the Lincoln Terrace Improvement Club, himself an engineer of ability, took an opposite view of the matter. Miller held that the new law is not one under which the property of the company, if bought at all, should be acquired.

"Take exception to the statement of Dockweiler that the limit will be reached in 1926," he said. "The limit is reached at this minute." Miller went on to say that the new law is vicious in its conception in that it deprives the people of the right of representation. "The law of 1926," he said, "is amply sufficient for us to proceed under without recourse to the latest legislation. Under it cities may get together independently of one another, or jointly, and form their own district for the purchase of a water system. There is nothing concealed or veiled in the law—it is open and says what it means."

Miller declared that the fear of a water famine is groundless. He made the positive assertion that within 90 days water could be pumped in from the San Joaquin river, filtered and sent into the mains of the city. He said that, as a matter of fact, when filtered would be better than that of the Hetch Hetchy source, unfiltered, and the cost of the entire project, carried to a final temporary stage of operation would not exceed two million dollars.

Green Majors, who has also taken an active interest in the proposed purchase, also spoke. Majors was emphatically opposed to the proposition under the present law.

"WOULD PAY FOR 'VALUE ONLY.'"
"I believe in acquiring so much of the plant as is needed to operate a municipally owned system, and I believe in paying dollar for dollar of the value of what we receive. If the pipes are in good condition I am in favor of paying for pipes. If the system is a streak of rust, I believe in paying only for the streak of rust—just what the value is."

Majors explained the law as he interpreted it. He said it was not only a worthless bit of legislation, but that it was vicious. He declared that the eight directors appointed by the mayors and the board of supervisors would have control by reason of their greater numbers, of the other five directors elected by the people, and answerable to the voters.

The speaker and Dockweiler entered into a lengthy dispute as to the merits of the present state law, under the provisions of which the plant and system of the Peoples Water Company would be purchased in the event of the election carrying.

John Golder, of the Golden Gate Improvement Club, L. C. Levy of the Santa Fe Improvement Club, A. W. Pattison and N. G. Welburn, also spoke against the measure.

HORRORS. 18 Errors as Trio of Tail Enders Take a Fall Out of First Division

Has Bob McAllister the Necessary Steam to Beat Ed Petroskey?

SEVENTY PLAYERS ERR EIGHTEEN TIMES IN THREE GAMES

Weird Day Produces Everything Including Hidden Ball Trick

By BILLY FITZ. ENICE and Oakland are now only a game

the first division, thanks to a triple brounce administered by the trio of tail-enders to the first division occupants. It was the weirdest day of the 1913 season, 18 errors being reported in the 3 games in which exactly seventy players participated. Twenty-five men alone were connected with the Oakland game and they contributed twelve of the eighteen errors.

When Del Howard was managing the Louisville club in the American Association some years ago, the field was noted for a deep moss or bog that bordered the fence in deep center field. When the ball went over the fence and into this bog, it would generally get stuck in the mud somewhere and the fielder could not locate it. The Louisville players always made home runs in a case of that kind, but somehow or other the Louisville fielders seemed to have a marvelous faculty of recovering the ball from that marshy spot. When the ball was thrown out, it was always found in the mud. This was too much for the umpires and they went out to center field to find it.

There they found not one ball, but twenty which had been natted out there in various games and left in favor of a ball which the Louisville center fielder always carried thoughtfully in his shirt.

Jack Killaly whispered this to me: "When 'German' Schaffer was with the Louisville club, he was a very popular with the German element among the fans, who used to congregate in the left field bleachers and yell about 'dat boy'." A player named O'Brien was playing second at that time, and the day Killaly intended to tell Schaffer, O'Brien kicked the ball all over the field. When the fifth ball had been registered, a great big German arose in the bleachers and yelled out to Killaly.

"O Mike, Pr golly, don't you sell 'dat boy' to me!"

Speaking of bleacher humor, one of the best examples of it was related of a giant negro who used to occupy a certain seat every afternoon at the Boston National grounds. One day, he devoted special attention to a visiting player whose name was Purse, but who was commonly called "Purse."

"Lawdy," he gasped. "Ah done heah of a German carp, but Ah never did see a Purse carp before."

Every conceivable kind of a bone and brains play introduced somewhere on the circuit, even to the old hidden ball trick, which O'Brien pulled on Derick of Portland in the ninth inning and thereby saved the day for Venice.

Well, the Oaks finally won a Thursday afternoon game on their home grounds. The pennant is ours!

We have had occasion more than once to deprecate the present system of crediting victories to Coast League twirlers, but the limit came yesterday, when Killaly received credit for Oakland's victory, though he pitched only two-thirds of an inning and allowed two runs, one of which was scored by the opposition.

Technically, Killaly did not leave the game until Derick was sent to bat for him in the last part of the same inning (5th) and this occurred after Derick had tripled to right field, scoring two runs and putting Oakland once more in the lead. So that Killaly got credit for leaving the game with the score in his favor.

At that, Jack has lost so many hard luck games that he is entitled to a smile.

MARATHON RUNNERS ARE INVITED TO TRYOUT Cover Course Monday Evening and Try Your Wind

(All members of the committee in charge of THE TRIBUNE'S marathon are requested to communicate with the sporting department at once.)

By C. H. TROOZE, Assistant Physical Instructor Y. M. C. A. Probably a large percentage of those training for the TRIBUNE'S big race are men that are working during the day and are obliged to do most of their training in the evening. In this case, make your evening meal a light one.

It is most important that the leg muscles be kept loose and pliable. A good plan to follow, if a regular rubber is not available, is for two runners to train together performing the office of rubber for each other after their work-out.

HOW TO ENJOY A RUB-DOWN. The following method may be used to advantage:

First: Cover the legs with a hot towel, removing the towel in a few minutes. Rub the limbs until thoroughly dried then apply the rub-down which should be done in a light and half-pipe motion. Push the muscles thoroughly working the muscles until soft and pliable. Follow this with a massage of the abdominal muscles.

At this time I will review a few of the important points boiled down taken from previous articles. Eliminate all bad habits. Retire early. Get at least eight hours sleep. Eat plenty of wholesome food but don't gorge. Use the gym to strengthen and tone up the whole system. Practice deep breathing. Lengthen your workouts gradually as you find pleasure and your body feels the desire for more work. Wear something more than a sleeveless shirt over the chest and throat while running when the weather is cold. Use wet fitting, well broken-in shoes.

RETAIN YOUR RESERVE POWER. In the race, care should be taken in not using too much reserve power at the start, trying to stay with the leaders. Don't rely on catching your second wind and continue running when completely exhausted, too often the experienced runner will run on nothing but pure grit when exhausted, false pride preventing him from dropping out in view of the spectators. That practice, if followed, is dangerous and your health is more important than the winning of the race which you have no chance of doing if in an exhausted condition, any distance from the finish. The second wind argument is often brought forward but is one of the most foolish arguments that can be advanced for long-distance running. The experienced runner will ease up a little when he feels the first indications of weariness, the rest at that time helping to revive him and replenish his reserve power later.

Finally, one thing high training, unduly stressing the system, is the habit of some athletes in finishing out the flesh parts of life and all kinds of intemperance. This practice is sure to undermine the system and may effect the heart and lungs. There is not one case in a thousand where the body is injured by a wise course of training, where there is found weakness in the heart or lungs the trouble can almost invariably be traced to personal indiscretion or over-exhaustion.

ALL ENTRANTS INVITED MONDAY EVENING. The Oakland Y. M. C. A. extends an invitation to all those in training for the TRIBUNE'S race to use the physical department privileges on next Monday evening. Bring your running suit and a locker will be assigned for your street clothes. A rub over the course will be taken leaving the Association at about 8:15 p. m. The OAKLAND TRIBUNE photographer will be lying in wait somewhere on the course.

I shall be glad to advise you at that time, on any problems you may have met in your training.

The greatest reason for the OAKLAND TRIBUNE for the initiative shown in arranging and promoting this race and furnishing so many beautiful trophies for the young men of Oakland to strive for. The course chosen is an ideal one for this event.

Let everyone boost for the TRIBUNE race. Talk it up. Prove your loyalty to "My City Oakland" by making this race the classic event of the year with the entry list full for which the limit has been set at 1000. And may the best man win.

now and then from the Goddess of Fortune.

George Schirm, the utility outfielder of the Oaks, will have to submit to the greatest test of his career in the next few days. The trouble is in the nature of a carbuncle which seems to have become infected. Schirm may not be able to play any more this year.

Outfielder Teddy Kaylor and Pitcher Zeke Lohman of the Oakland club have been retained. The time limit under which they came to the club on trial has expired and Mitze has expressed his satisfaction with both players. Kaylor has had bad cold in his eyes for the last few days, and that probably accounted for the two fives he dropped yesterday.

"Zeke" Lohman has shown sweet control and a very fine spitter. If he learns the gentle art of bluffing a bit more, he will do one of the great tricks of a spitter is to bluff the batter by pretending to molest the ball and then cross him with a swift one. In that way, the batter never knows whether the ball is going to break or isn't, when the twister comes, the twister is a good job of it.

Before yesterday's game, Mitze told the writer that he figured on using Drucke against Portland in the opening game next week in the north. After Drucke had pitched the last four innings yesterday, Mitze was wondering how he would use him. This latter German has been regarded as the biggest job of the Coast League and he threatens now to become the biggest sensation. Everyone knew that the ex-Giant had the greatest curve ball on the circuit, just as every one knew that he couldn't control it. Drucke was tried by Sacramento and by Venice this season and released instantly. His average was a base on balls every two innings, and a "hit by pitcher" every two innings. That's why he couldn't get over was when he didn't put a thing on the ball, and then they'd knock it out of his lot.

Drucke came to Mitze in Los Angeles, when the team was waiting for the fifth five out of seven and suggested a try-out. "I think I'm getting my control back," he said, "and I want another chance. If I ever find the plate again, they won't touch me."

Mitze had him warming up for two days on the sidelines, and was convinced that Drucke actually was "coming back." He brought the pitcher back in Oakland and put him to work pitching during batting practice. The Oaks went to the plate in fear and trembling, for Drucke's heat ball was a wonder. Gradually, Drucke began to improve, but not before he had nearly everyone scared to death.

Yesterday, he went in against the Angels and walked two men in four innings and hit Wright on the head. But he struck out six men, three of them in the ninth inning, and two of them with the bases full, the last being Pop Dillon himself.

Everyone wondered why Dillon didn't send someone to hit for Perritt in the fifth when he came to bat with men on first and third, none out, and the Angels four runs to the lead. Perritt answered that question by striking out in the field, scoring both men.

They have to slip out of their stride occasionally, and they did it yesterday, the Angels bringing in a victory by a 5 to 1 score.

J. Franklin Baker, of home run fame, had three chances to connect and he did so in each case. Also he scored thrice.

After Babe Marquard had worked seven innings against the Reds he was hooked in favor of Fromme with score 2 to 0 in favor of the latter team. The four in the ninth, but Babe doesn't get credit for the win.

Ashley Pope was defeated by Watson in an inning. Pope had his opportunity to win, but he was out of luck and he lost the game.

Ovie Overall Comes West to the Seals

Pitcher Overall, the veteran who rejoined the Chicago Nationals this year after an absence from the game of two seasons, was released by Manager Evers today to the Seals. Overall is the former University of California star who has tried the come-back.

Overall has already left for the coast and will join the Seals next week.

The presence of Overall and Lefield will give the Seals a great boost.

The price obtained for Overall was not announced. Del Howard team was a member of the Chicago team when Overall was doing his best work a few years ago, and has been negotiating for him for some time. Overall was pleased with the deal which sends him back to his home state.

ALL CLUBS HAVE CHANCE AT THE PENNANT THIS SEASON

Teams Bunched in Tightest Race in History of the Coast League

A glimpse over our files of last year demonstrates that the race last season was slightly different than the present struggle for the pennant. Last season we were rooting on the third peg, with less than a head between us and the leaders, while our next competitor, the Ducks, straggled along many lengths below. When the shadows had fallen, on the eve of August 7, 1912, the teams stood as follows:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Vernon	48	30	.615
Los Angeles	45	33	.577
Oakland	42	36	.538

But they didn't finish exactly that way. Therefore, it would be a brave prognosticator who would aver that they will terminate the present season in the positions which they now adorn.

Portland, for Venice, was setting the pace a year ago, with a three-and-one-half game lead over Los Angeles, and a lead of four and a half games over Oakland, who eventually grabbed the gonfalon. Portland was comfortably ensconced in fourth place, a condition which it managed to sustain to the bitter finish.

Even as early as August 6, San Francisco and Sacramento had become submerged in the slough of despond. Here is the order of the finish in the 1912 season:

Who in the Coast League is courageous enough to predict the changes that will take place between now and October 26?

The clubs are much more clustered than they were a year ago, and there is ample time for all sorts of changes. Still, there would be no harm in predicting that who would live to see some club rise up in its wrath and shave a few points from the gradually-increasing percentage.

EX-OLYMPIAN'S PUNCH POWER TO BE DECIDED THIS EVENING

Sporting World Puzzled as to Whether or Not Bob Carries a Poppy Punch

By THE TIMEKEEPER.

HE all-important question as to whether or not Bob Carries a Poppy Punch

former Olympic clubman who this evening will meet

Sailor Ed Petroskey in a twenty-round go in Coffroth's Eighth street arena has a knockout punch will be definitely decided within the course of the next few hours. Since leaving amateur boxing, McAllister has performed in three professional bouts, one being for ten rounds with Willie Meehan and the other two, four-round affairs against Paddy Lavin and Sailor

Charles Grande. In all three contests McAllister had little difficulty in getting the decision, but his inability to put over a punch carrying the necessary poppy steam was woefully lacking. In fact, McAllister had Meehan, with whom he fought his last battle, so groggy that the latter at times could hardly navigate, but despite Bob's hardest smashes was unable to put Willie on his back. The latter, however, was merely a current McAllister's opponent will study the course of the fight with

Grande and Lavin, the latter bout especially demonstrating the ex-clubman's lack of steam. Lavin was merely a punching bag, but Bob was able to put him out. There was one important thing shown in his go with Grande, and that was his ability to weather stiff punches. In this go his opponent will study generously and some of those he received carried lots of force, though that did not seem to bother him much. McAllister has a terrific punch. It exhibitions as his training camp in San Rafael can be relied upon. He is slow in his delivery, however, and resorts to taking a chance that his opponent will study some vital part out to meet his glove as it flies through the atmosphere. The ex-sailor can also assimilate considerable punishment and unless McAllister shows a punch which he has not as yet un-loosed, it looks as if the bout would go the entire course with McAllister hooking the decision. McAllister has a terrific punch and he has the gray matter to follow up an advantage. Harry Foley, who acted as trainer-in-chief for Willie Ritchie in his last fight, will officiate as chief second for Petroskey, while George Green, the veteran welterweight, will act in a similar capacity for McAllister.

A dummy Petroskey money had brought the odds to 8, with McAllister pulling as favorite. However, a big sale of odds is expected late today from Valle and according to the odds are coming down with the bankroll to bet on their former shipmate. Three preliminaries will start the evening's fun, and the main event should get started by 8:40.

SULZER'S STOCK DEALS BARED

Governor Speculated, Is the Charge Made in Hearing by Committee

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Governor William Sulzer's speculation in the New York stock market came out in the open today before the joint legislative investigating committee. The testimony indicated the governor had a heavy loss and showed that he had a $25,000 debit against him with the exchange firm, and had used campaign contributions to speculate with another broker.

A clerk identified mysterious "account No. 500" as Sulzer's and a member of another firm, Melville Fuller, not only admitted that Sulzer had been a customer with the exchange firm, but also revealed that he had been speculating with $50,000, but added he was testifying with "lips unsealed" at the Governor's suggestion.

list of checks introduced, tending to show that part of the speculation was carried on with funds contributed to Sulzer's gubernatorial campaign. This, according to counsel, constitutes violation of the corrupt practices act.

The testimony showed that on January 1, 1912, Sulzer was in debt nearly $50,000 to Harris and Fuller, and that after repaid calls for campaign funds, the debt was reduced to $25,000. Boyer, Griswold and company are also named.

NO PERMITS FOR CHILDREN'S LABOR

Juvenile Court Will Take No Action on Applications in Future

"The juvenile court and the probation officers will have nothing further to do with the issuing of child labor permits under the new child labor law which goes into effect next Monday," said Miss Elva McGraw who has heretofore been in charge of this department of the juvenile court. She said that she will have the right to enter any store or factory to see if the law is being violated. The court will take no action on applications in the future.

"No official whatsoever can issue a permit in violation of the law. The law is in effect now. The court will take no action on applications in the future."

"The most radical feature of the new law is the 8-hour day for boys and girls under 18. The least punishment for violation of the law is a $5 fine or imprisonment."

The investigation of child labor permits for the juvenile court has been made in the past by Mrs. Frances B. Lemon.

IMPROVES OPPOSE STREET WIDENING

By an almost unanimous vote the ordinance before the city council changing the re-aligning of the width of sidewalks on Washington street, between Seventh and Fourteenth streets, was turned down today by the city council. The ordinance was proposed by the Street Improvement Club in Hotel Crelin last evening.

The principal speakers against the proposed ordinance presented arguments to the effect that Washington street was today the best customer street in the city and it was simply being changed to a business street. The ordinance was proposed by the Street Improvement Club in Hotel Crelin last evening.

CORN HOLDS GOOD DESPITE RAINS

Illinois Precipitation Does Not Weaken Market for Product

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Despite rains in Illinois, corn today displayed strength from the onset. Kansas and Nebraska were still suffering from drought and excessive heat and there had been only a slight slack in parts of Missouri. TEST OF ALASKA COAL TO BE MADE

Armored Cruiser Maryland Detailed to Try Out Northern Product

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Tests of the coal of Alaska are to be commenced within the next few days on the armored cruiser Maryland, assigned to duty at the mouth of the Columbia river. The tests will be made by the bureau of mines.

navy department, which is looking forward with keen interest to the outcome of the experiments. Discovery that the Alaskan coal is of steaming quality sufficiently good for use in the navy will result in a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. At the present time the coal used in the war vessels in Pacific waters has to be transported around Cape Horn from Norfolk, Va.

The supply for the tests has been obtained, and the department announced that the coal is available at Controller Bay. Mined in the great Bering river coal fields, the fuel was brought on sleds over snow and ice to the Bering river, where it was transported to the coast in light draft barges. The mining was done under the direction of experts from the bureau of mines.

BISHOP OPPOSED ANTI-ALIEN LAW

Rev John McKim Says He "Understands Japanese Thoroughly"

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—After a service of thirty-three years in Christian work in Japan, John McKim, Bishop of the Episcopal Church for Tokyo, returned here yesterday for a short stay. The Bishop was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Nelnie, and arrived on the ship, the Togo Kisen Kaisha.

Bishop McKim made the trip at this time in order to attend a missionary convention of his church to be held in New York in October. Shortly thereafter he plans to go back to Japan. For the past thirteen years he has been Bishop of Tokyo.

The Bishop declared himself unalterably opposed to the anti-alien law enacted in this State.

"I understand the Japanese character thoroughly," he said, "and unhesitatingly voice my opinion that the law passed by your Legislature and enacted by your Governor is a gross and a great injustice. You will see your mistake in the course of time, and I confidently believe you will repeal the law."

Bishop McKim will have as a companion on the trip to New York Wataru Sakakibara, a clergyman of Tokyo.

Illinois Leaves Maderia and Will Land at Annapolis August 29

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—With 223 midshipmen of the first and third classes aboard the battleship Illinois reported to the navy department today that she had left Portugal, Madeira, on the last leg of her foreign cruise. The vessel will land the future admiral at Annapolis on August 29.

Advisers from the vessel declare the midshipmen were entertained royally abroad at the various ports at which they landed, and that the cruise had been a highly profitable one for the classmen.

While at Antwerp the advisers stated, the Illinois had as its guest Charles D. Hays, who served in the civil war and was one of the first awarded war medals in the United States navy. The double-targeted ram Kookuk and the monitor Albatross, the veterans wrote to the commanding officer his regrets that he was "too old and feeble" to visit the ship, when upon the office, went ashore and took off the old seafarer and his aged wife for a day aboard.

The Illinois will arrive in Hampton Roads August 22 to take part in the big gun practice. One week later it will unload the cadets at Annapolis, at which time they will be given a month's leave.

Robert Cords, Jr., and Mrs. Alyce Sheehy Are Secretly Married

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—A final to two divorce proceedings in different states was written into the records of Sacramento county last week, when Robert Cords Jr. and Mrs. Alyce Sheehy, both San Franciscans, were secretly married by Judge C. N. Post.

Following the ceremony the young couple boarded the first train for Reno, where they are now enjoying their honeymoon at the Riverside hotel, the temporary home of the majority of the more famed of Reno's colony of ambitious divorcees.

Cords' meeting with his bride dates back to a few weeks ago in Carson City, where she was patiently awaiting a decree of divorce from her former husband, a well-known real estate operator of this city.

Cords, whose former wife, an Oakland girl, had only a few months before, obtained a final decree of separation from him, had been in Nevada several weeks on business, when his attention to Mrs. Sheehy began to be a subject of comment in the divorce colonies and speculation on the outcome of their daily companionship had about reached its height when the court handed down a decree to Mrs. Sheehy, and she and Cords hastened to Sacramento for a marriage license.

Mrs. Cords is an exceedingly attractive woman who is widely known in San Francisco. Cords for years was a guest at the St. Francis hotel.

ELEVATOR DROPS; TEN PEOPLE JARRED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Ten members of the Municipal League Non-Partisan party were jarred and received contusions and bruises in an elevator accident in the Monadnock building last night when the last of those attending the meeting in the assembly room fell from the first floor to the basement as the cables of the car broke. Only the fact that the accident happened at the first floor instead of higher in the shaft prevented a serious disaster.

ROSENEAU AWARDED MEDAL FOR HUMANITY

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Announcement was made yesterday that Dr. Milton J. Roseneau, professor of preventive medicine and hygiene in the Harvard medical school, has been awarded the gold medal of American medicine for service to humanity in the last year.

Dr. Roseneau has done notable work in the study of infantile paralysis. Through experiments he has proved that the stable fly is one of the chief, if not the sole means by which that disease is transmitted.

CAR MEN RAISE SENATORIAL FIRE

Washington Conductors Clash With Members of Upper House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Senator Tillman of South Carolina is the latest national legislator to clash with a street car conductor and today he was engaged in "cooling off" as he expressed it, before determining whether he would file charges against the man. Within the last few weeks Representative Sisson of Mississippi and Representative Buchanan of Illinois have clashed with conductors on Pennsylvania avenue street cars.

"If this keeps up," said a senator today, laughing, "we'll have to organize the Senate Street Car Society for Conductor Chasing. It seems about to become the most popular summer sport with Congress."

Senator Tillman, with Mrs. Tillman, boarded a car at the capitol to ride to their home. He proffered his tickets while standing on the step and, according to his account, the conductor ordered him on to the platform. "In an abrupt and discourteous manner." The clash followed and the senator took the man's name and number. The conductor denied that he had been or intended to be discourteous or abrupt.

PIMPLES ON FACE, NECK AND ARMS

Very Large, Itched Badly, Suffered Terribly. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Cured Now.

411 Howard St., Dayton, Ohio.—"About a year ago my face, neck, arms and back were beginning to become afflicted with pimples and blackheads. My pimples would get very large and appear to come to a head. If I tried to open them the pain would be terrible, but nothing could be taken from them. They itched very badly; I suffered terribly from itching. After scratching, the pimples would swell and after the swelling was gone my face would become very red and remain so for some time. My clothing caused the itching to be worse. When it was warm it was utterly impossible to sleep.

"I used a cream and the more I used the worse they got. Shortly after I read the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and determined to use them. I bathed the pimples every night in warm water, using Cuticura Soap, after which I would apply the Cuticura Ointment. In the morning I would wash it off with Cuticura Soap and again apply the Cuticura Ointment. The itching stopped almost immediately. This was about three months ago and I am entirely cured now." (Signed) Miss Marguerite E. Jacobs, Jan. 13, 1913.

My only cure for a long time, and I would have a clean scalp and good hair! It is your bright light. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. A single coat is often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 25-c. skin book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T., Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.
